'69 Staff Honors Mohnhey With Sporran Dedication

From teaching Biology to directing the ringing of the Victory Bell, Mr. Ray Mohnhey has, for nine consecutive years, helped to build a better image of, and to keep alive the spirit for Shadle Park High School.

Advisor of the Class of '65, which presented Shadle with the Victory Bell as their senior gift, Mr. Mohnhey proved instrumental in acquiring a new bell when the old one cracked in February, 1967. He was the advisor for the Victory Bell committee set up by the ASB to look into the details for a new bell.

Presently, Mr. Mohnhey is serving

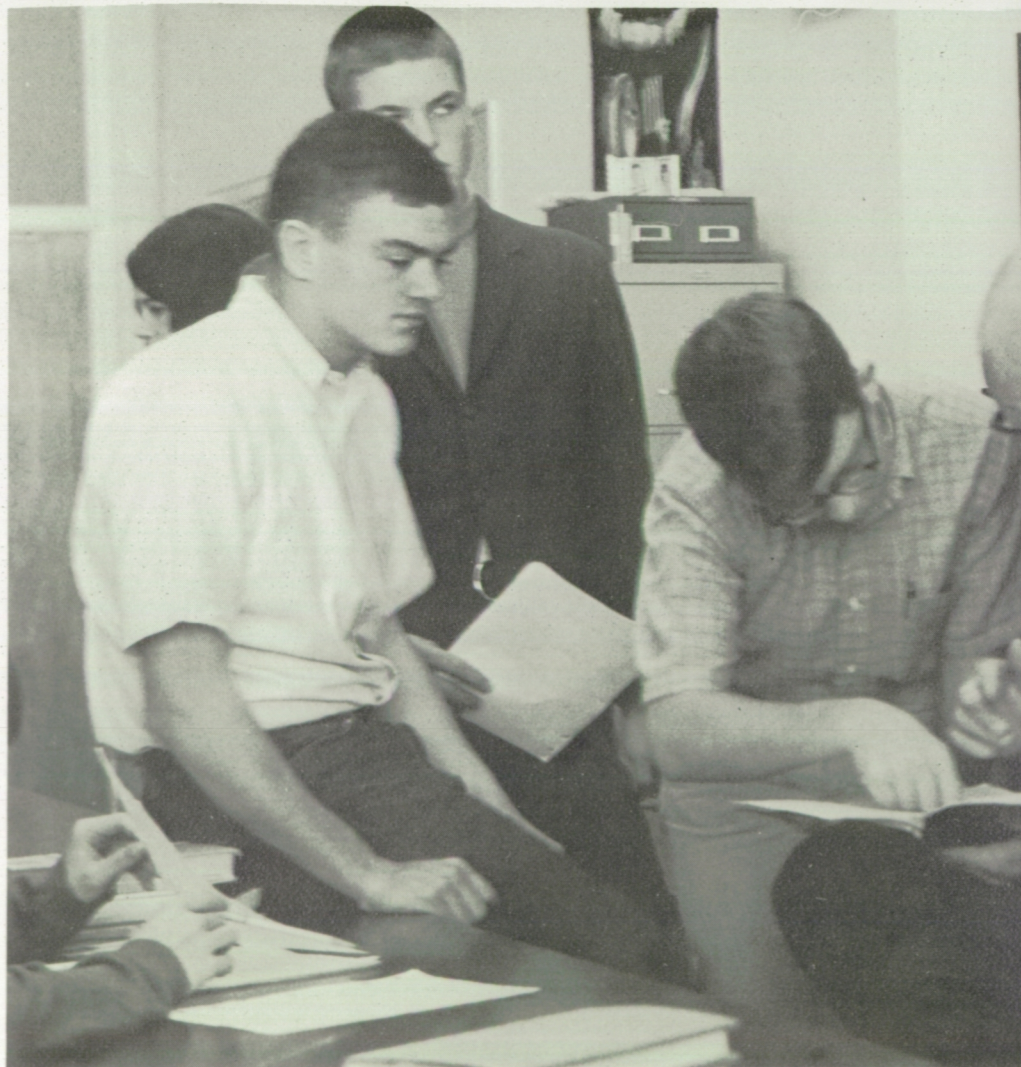

Smiling, Mr. Mohnhey gives his approval for the new Victory Bell. Erected September 17, 1968, the bell is made of bronze and weighs approximately 650 pounds. Shortly after the bell was put up, SP was painted on both sides. A green and gold braided rope was also tied to the clapper.

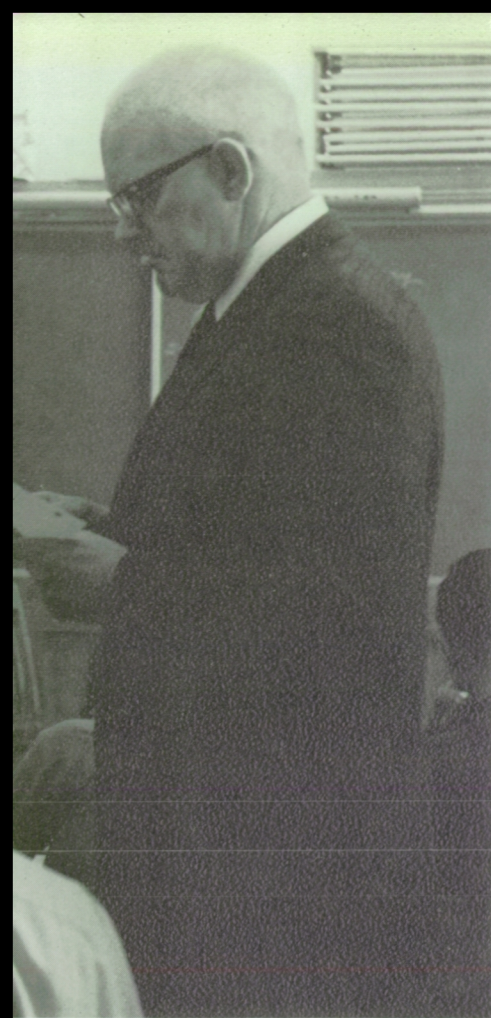

as the senior class advisor. As sophomores, under the guidance of Mr. Mohnhey, the Class of '69 wrote its constitution and elected officers earlier than any other new class. Mr. Mohnhey, after seeing the Class of '65 graduate, asked again for a new class.

Mr. Mohnhey is now the boys' golf coach. When Shadle opened in 1957, he was the frosh track coach. He was also the advisor for the science club.

For his active participation in all phases of Shadle Park, the staff proudly dedicates the '69 Sporran to Mr. Ray Mohnhey.

RIGHT: Concentrating on a student's assignment, Mr. Mohnhey offers constructive criticism.

LEFT: Waiting in line to talk to Mr. Mohney, several students in one of his biology classes look on as a puzzled student asks for advice on a problem concerning atomic weights.

ABOVE: Answering questions from several members of the girls' golf team, Mr. Mohney, boys' golf coach, explains the uses and weights of the various golf clubs.

Presentation Encourages

Shadle's international theme, best illustrated by the annual presentation of foreign flags, provides students with a wider understanding of the world and its affairs.

The traditional flag exhibition originated in 1967 when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Holien presented a flag display to the school in honor of their son, Richard P. Holien (Class of '63), who died of wounds suffered in action at An Loc, South Vietnam.

at Flag Con New Ideals

Carrying on a theme of international understanding, Shadle "imported" AFS exchange student Vicki Guzman from Costa Rica. Vicki brought with her a native brand of friendliness and enthusiasm that will leave a permanent impression upon Highlanders.

Senior Dave Miller also participated in the AFS program. Dave left for Capetown, South Africa during the second semester to live and attend classes until early next January.

Pupils Gain

Using the Resource Center for the first time, Humanities students employed new sets of college level books as references. Students used the center in their independent study periods in addition to attending several lectures and seminars a week.

Five new art films and audio tapes produced and filmed by five former Shadle students added another new aspect to Humanities. The five students substituted the first of the films, "Man's Time", for a term paper.

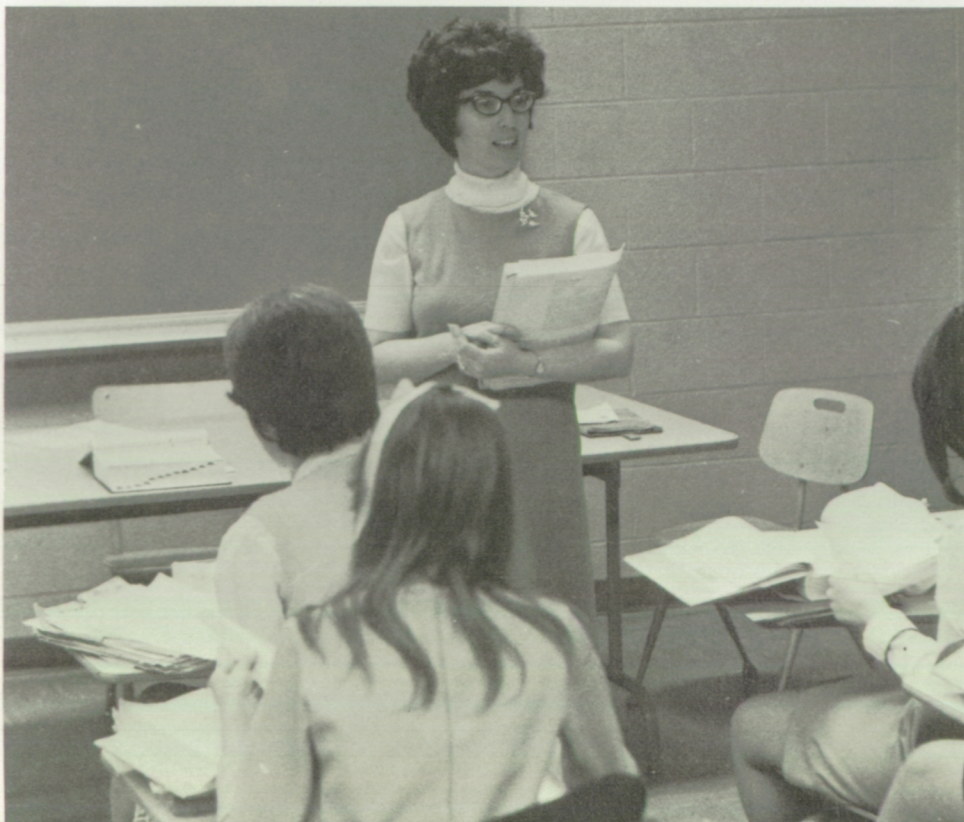

Adding three new films, including Homer's "The Odyssey", the English department attempted to build greater content in the sophomore and junior classes. Through sequential use of literature, students built a foundation in their sophomore year for analyzing the literature they were to read as juniors.

With the purchase of a zoom-lens, combined classes of English students viewed films as one class.

the history of American authors and literature.

Knowledge From New English Center

BELOW: Government students listen to Mr. Eugene Bell as he lectures on the necessity of government in every society. Seniors in this class learned the different types of governments and compared them to that of the United States.

ABOVE: Straining their memories, students in Mr. Larry Clark's U.S. History class struggle to put down the answers to a "pop" quiz as he reads the questions. Quizzes were common as teachers checked the student's homework habits.

Classes Cover Campaign

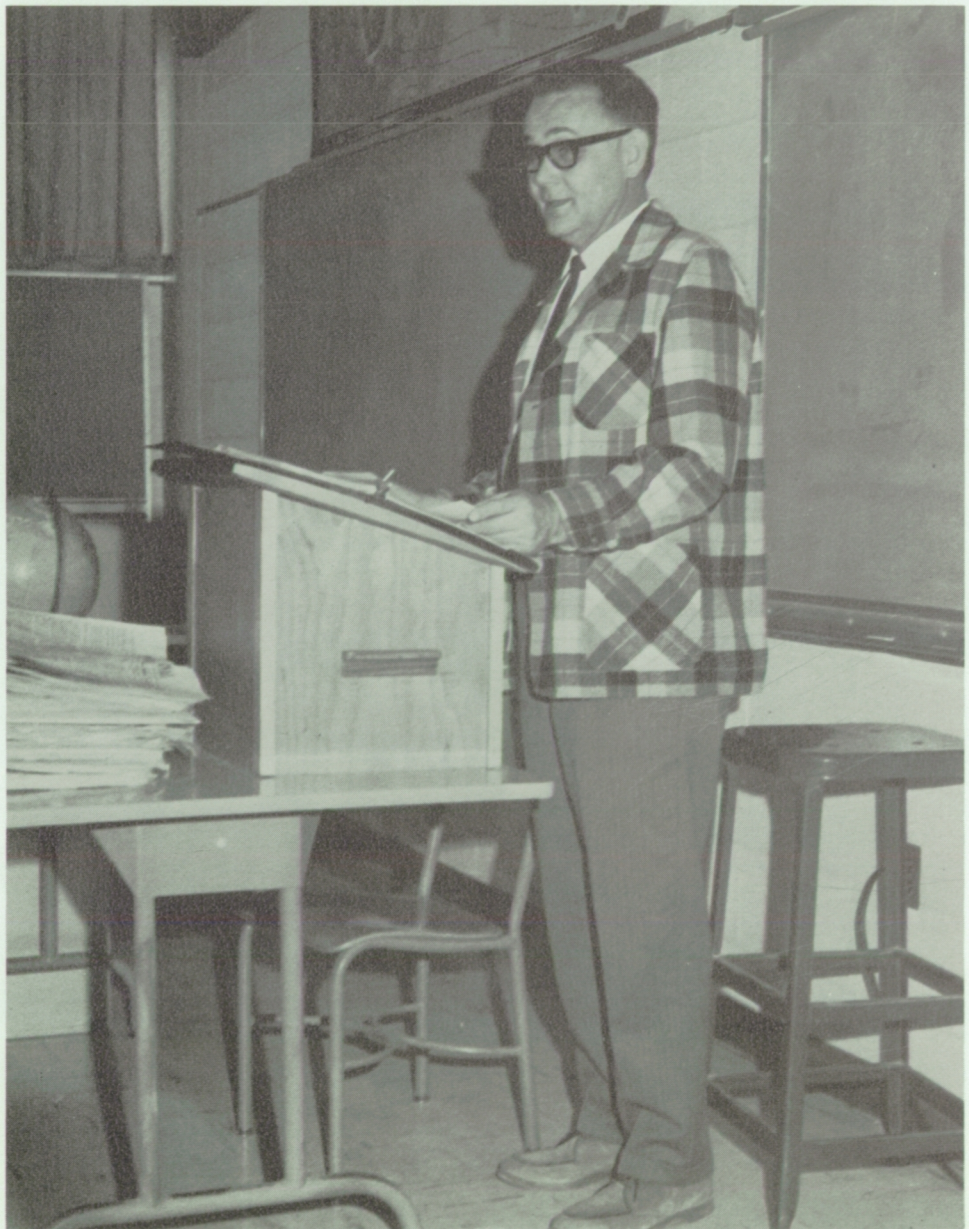

Analyzing the "Ballot Box Battle" of the '68 campaign characterized work in the Social Studies Department. Also supplementing course content, instructors expanded educational television programming and evaluated existing curriculum.

Students followed the 1968 elections in their classes, helping them prepare for an ASB-sponsored mock election registering Shadle preferences for president, governor, U.S. senator, and other state officers. The results were tabulated as part of a state-wide high school ballot.

Educational Television, ETV, brought candidates and the issues closer to social studies students, as well as providing current discussion material through video tape replay programs.

"Struggle for Peace", a National Educational Television series, was a popular program among senior classes as they studied the current world conflicts and the ensuing maneuvers for peaceful solutions.

ABOVE: Mr. William Meuler explains the risks of playing the stock market. Students learned the importance of doing research on a company before buying their stock and the rewards of a carefully thought out purchase of stocks.

BELOW: Mr. Ken Judd discusses with his sociology students the effects of society on government. These students also studied the effects of crime, religion, and various other problems in society through lecture and research.

New Content

Science Department classes stimulated student interest with the addition of modern equipment and new course content in 1968 and 1969.

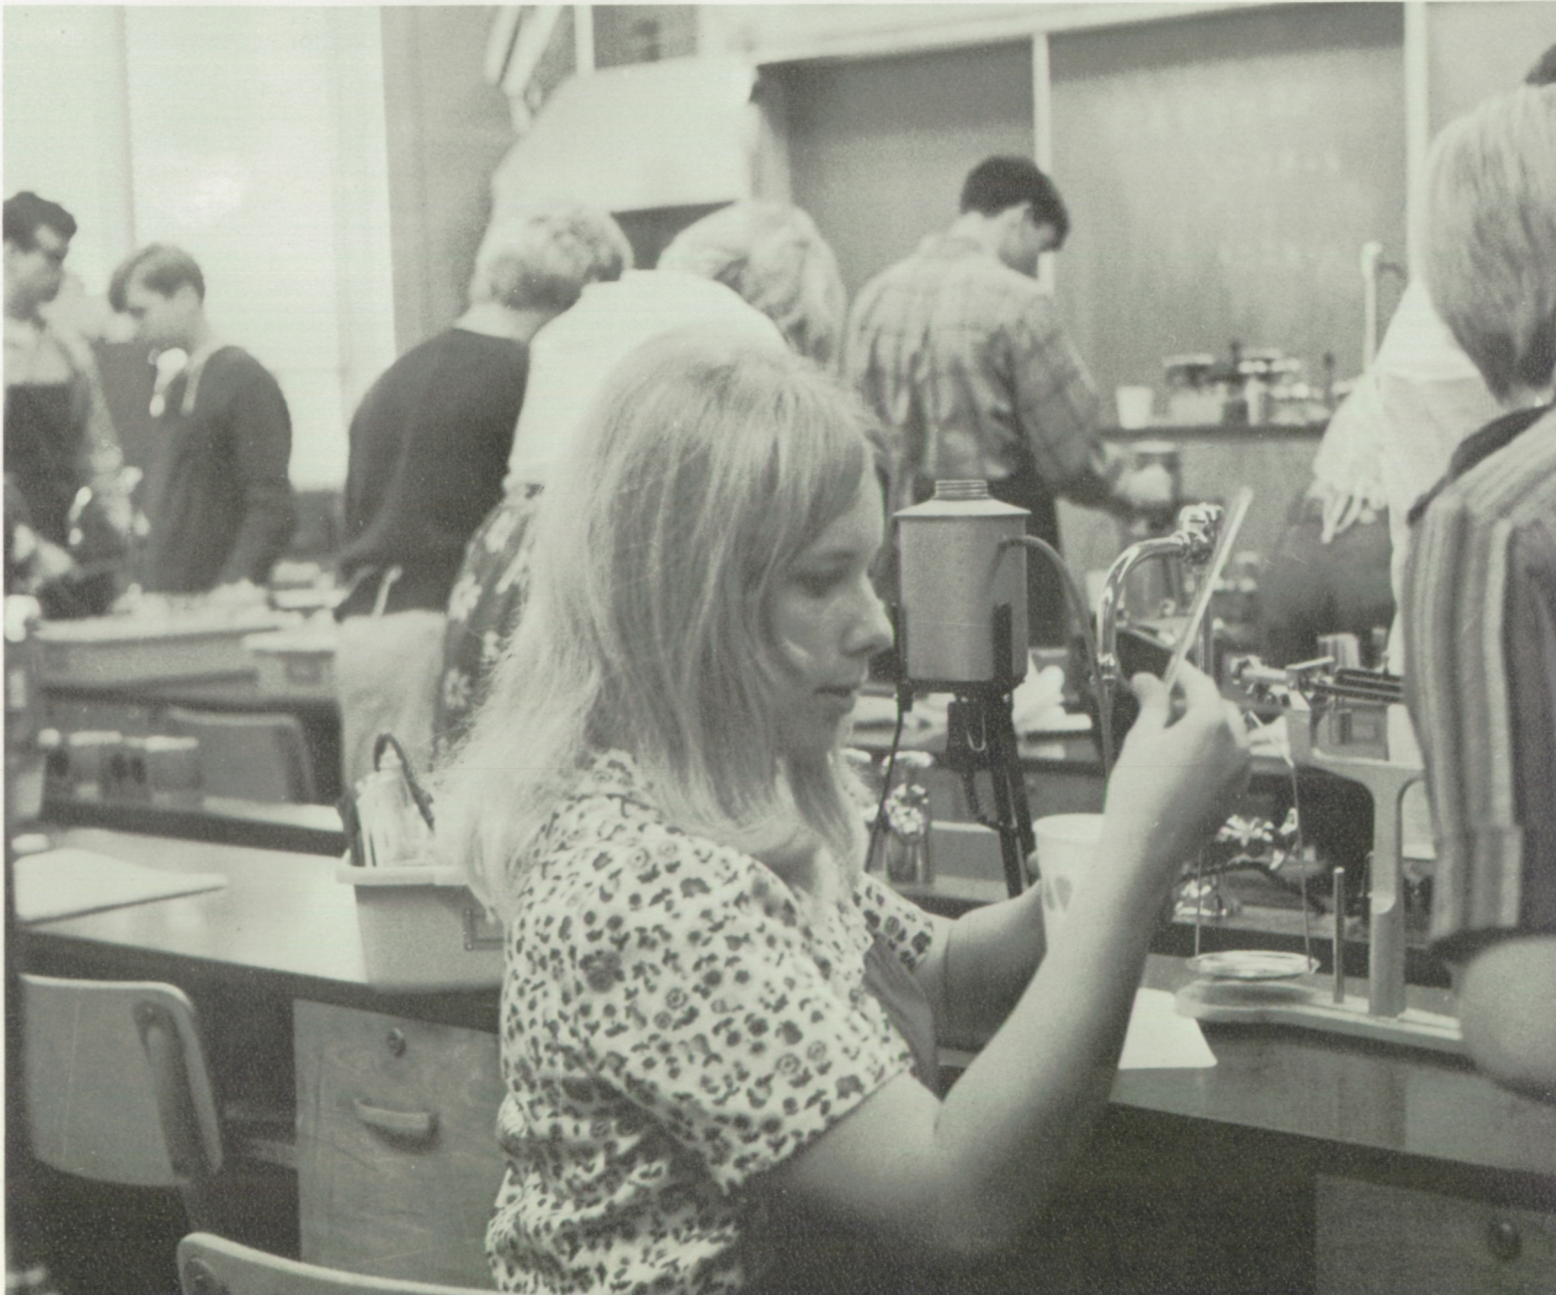

Integrated Science, now in its third year, boasted an enrollment increase of 25 percent this year over previous years.

By means of the team-teaching method, this class delved into such areas as physics, astronomy, chemistry, and oceanography.

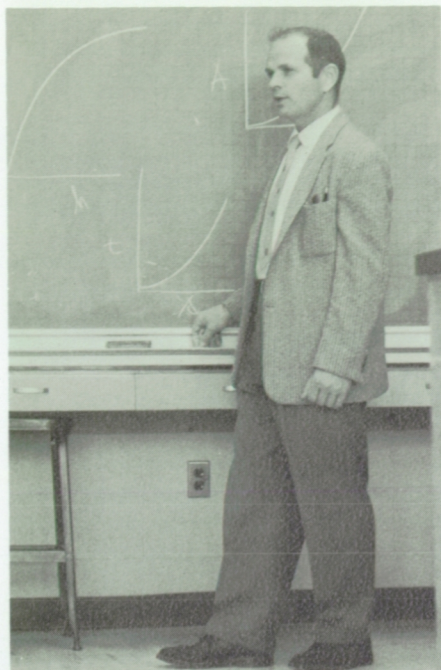

A laser beam proved a supplement to physics classes as students studied the effects of the laser beam in the modern world. Mr. Tex Clark, physics teacher, explained, "There are many uses for the laser beam, but there are many uses which are, as of yet, undiscovered."

incentive for study in many areas of plant and animal life.

ABOVE: Integrated Science students study the growths of protozoa with the help of a microscope. This class employed team-teaching to give students a fuller insight into the sciences.

Students Learn Math by Participating

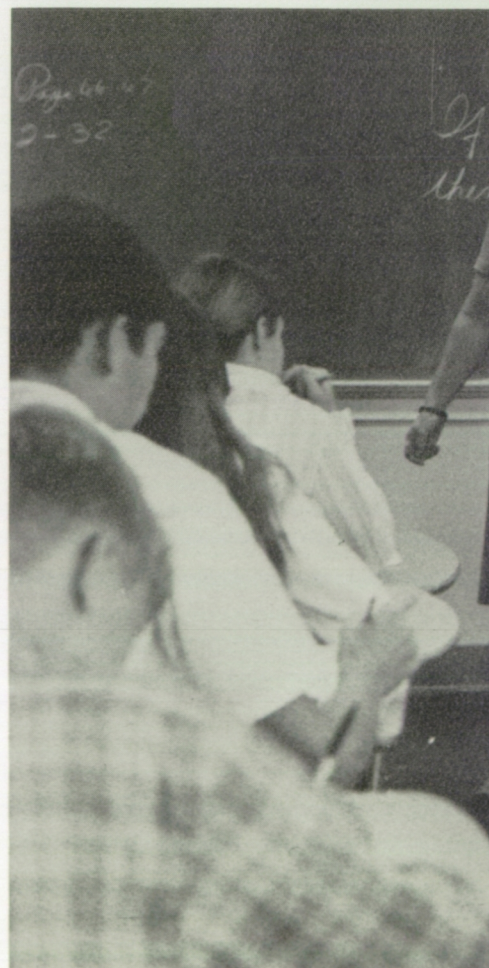

"The Mathematics Department is convinced that a student learns best through participation," stated Mr. Wayne Eacker, department head. Math teachers therefore tried to get students interested in class involvement.

Overhead projectors greatly facilitated such student participation. Now standard equipment in all math rooms, teachers and students constantly used the overhead to convey their thinking to classes.

Mr. Eacker stresses the fact that teachers encouraged students to pursue math on through the advanced course because mathematics plays such an important role in our rapidly changing world. It also helps the student think problems through, a skill which may help in later life.

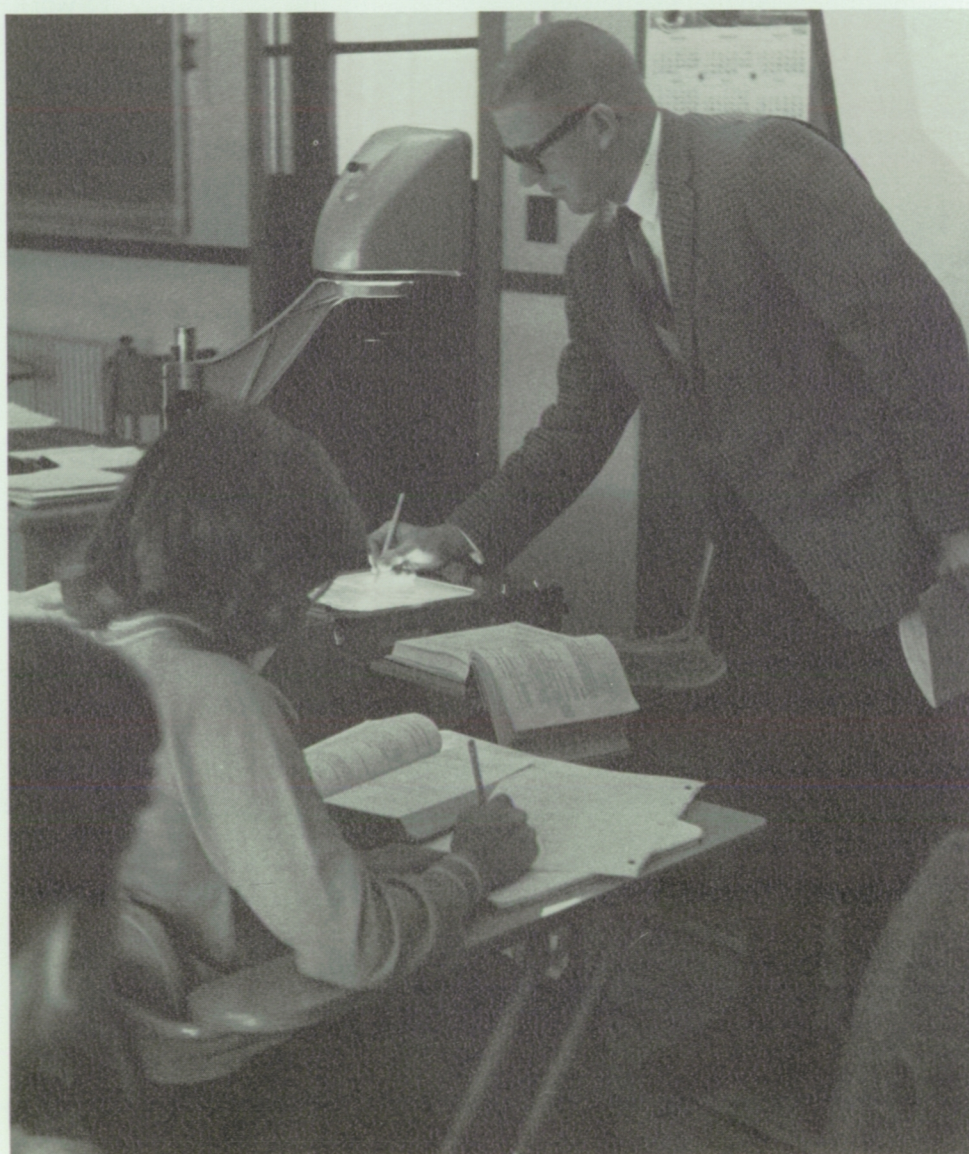

LEFT: Math comes a little too early in the morning for senior Karen Somerville. She yawns as she listens to her teacher describe the properties of complete ordered systems in her intermediate math class.

ABOVE: Students listen pensively in Mr. Wayne Eacker's advanced math class. These classes consisted of especially capable or interested students who previously completed courses in algebra, geometry, and intermediate math.

BELOW: "If P, then Q," Mrs. Virginia Koller attempts to put across to her third period geometry class. Other teachers also taught their students this logic as one of the fundamental principles of math.

ABOVE: Math instructor Mr. Harvey Lochhead uses the overhead projector to explain a problem to his intermediate math class. Both teachers and students used the overhead to show examples and explain theorems.

Adding Advanced Studies Helps Language Students

Advanced language classes in French, Spanish, and German completed a study of four and five years of work for 21 students this year.

These students mixed with third and fourth year classes and generally studied on an independent program in which they evaluated the language.

Language enrollment increased 124 percent since 1959, showing a jump in popularity for the conventional languages. These languages consist of Latin, French, German and Spanish.

Unconventional languages such as Russian, Chinese and Japanese brought a taste of Asia to many public schools this year. Second year Russian composed the only Asiatic language offered at Shadle.

Using progressive learning, language classes developed a better understanding of the course. This system contains speaking and listening methods as opposed to the strict grammar technique.

Students learned through educational films, tapes, records, film strips, and the language lab. By using these methods students gained knowledge of history, geography, culture, and economy of the land.

Used extensively, the lab opened every day before and after school for student study. It offered the students the opportunity to work at their own speed and to choose the field in which they wished to study.

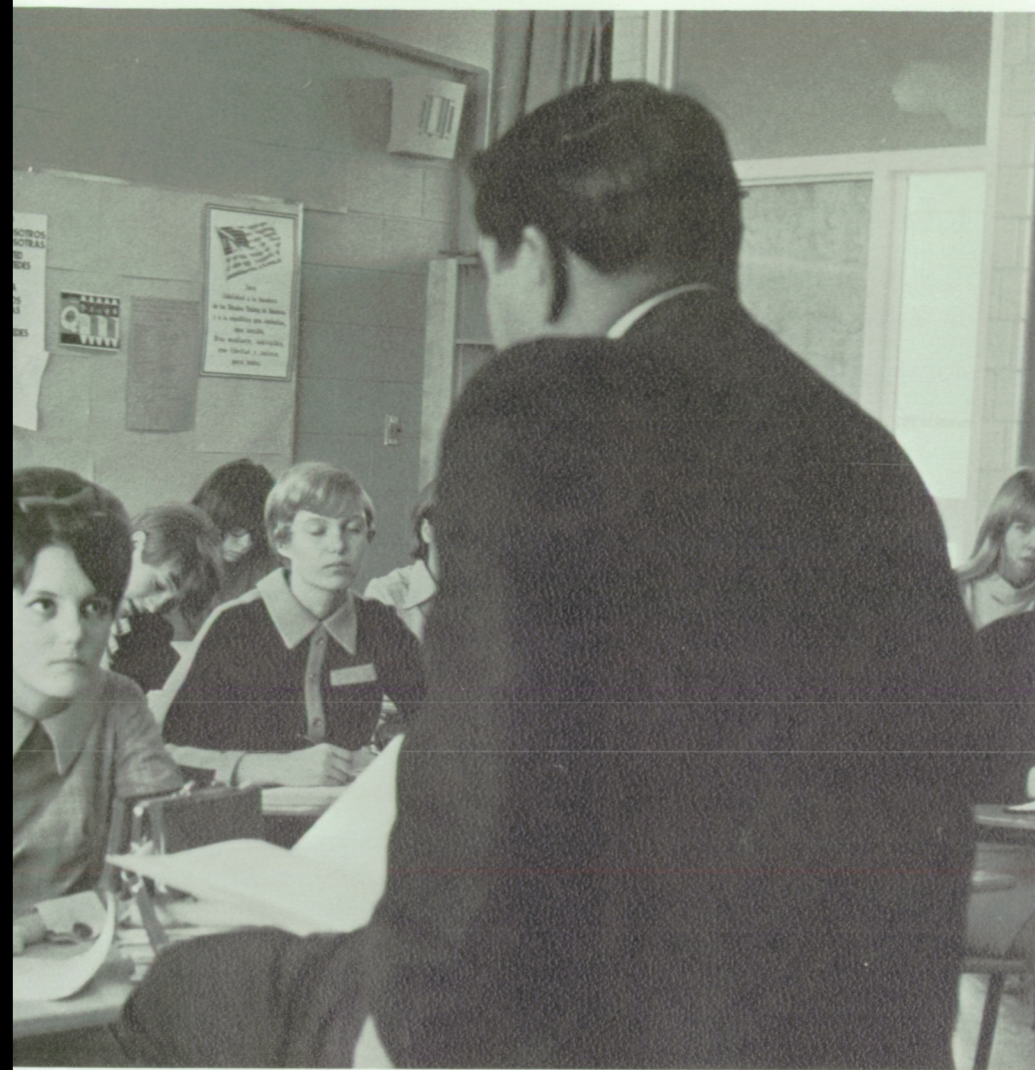

BELOW: Learning the proper pronunciation of German words, Kathy Dike, fourth year German student, listens intently as Mrs. Loretta Sloan slowly enunciates the correct sound.

ABOVE: Translating third year French into understandable English, Mr. Bill Via answers a question concerning the proper tense of a verb and its actual meaning.

ABOVE: Busily taking down notes in Spanish, Mr. Carlos Flores' third year class contemplates Spanish verbs and conjugations. Using voice forms characterized advanced Spanish study.

Russian students learn a completely new and different alphabet studying this Asiatic language. First and second year Russian is the only unconventional language taught at Shadle.

Expanded Business Dept. Utilizes Data Processing

Data Processing joined the program in Business Machines classes, utilizing six weeks of the semester course. This, along with the other machine operations, helped the students become more familiar with standard office machines and their operations as the Business Education department expanded the program.

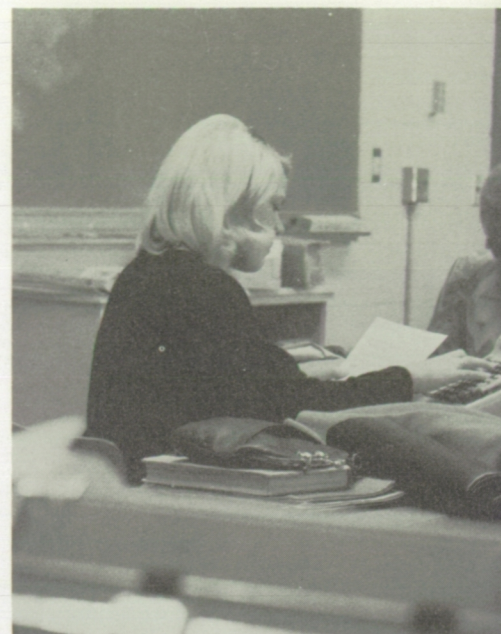

Secretarial Science offered further training in business education. This two-hour block class helped the girls increase their speed and accuracy in shorthand and develop other business skills.

Distributive Education served a double purpose; classroom instruction and on-the-job training. A part-time job gave the students first-hand experience. In the classroom they received instruction on sales promotion, marketing, and social and economic responsibilities.

Typing and shorthand classes continued to acquaint the students with the two basic secretarial skills.

Office Practice emphasized working in a real business atmosphere. Students worked with the staff in the library, bookroom, cafeteria, and business, student, and public offices.

BELOW: Explaining the fundamentals of a sale, Mr. Jim Morlan pauses in his presentation to answer questions of students in his 3-4 period Distributive Education class. Classroom discussion aided in the understanding of the principles of sales promotion.

Selection of Shadle's Physical Education Department offers a variety of sports, ranging from ice-skating to volleyball.

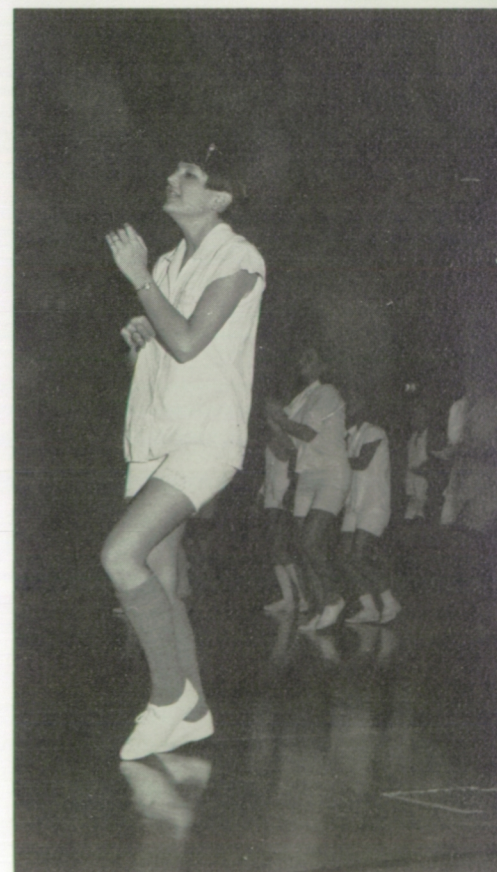

As an extension of a program initiated a year ago, classes boarded buses and traveled outside of the school to the Five-Mile Shopping Center. Here students attended bowling and ice-skating lessons at the Ice Chalet and Imperial Bowling Lanes.

Boys and girls participated in co-educational volleyball during the winter quarter. Before each session, students limbered up by exercising to music.

PE students also took part in a six-week swimming course, in which students learned life-saving and basic swimming strokes.

During good weather, classes met outdoors. Boys participated in football and track, while girls' classes stressed soccer and track.

Music Program Gives Many Students

Music students gained more opportunity to participate in performing groups this year. The band divided into the Symphony band (consisting of the top forty-three players) and the concert band (with all other players). Both groups performed individually at concerts and combined to form a 118-member unit to march in games and the Lilac Parade. This band division became a new first for Spokane schools.

All choral groups rehearsed songs for the Christmas and spring concerts and the Musical Smorgasbord. The concert choir learned a variety of songs, including the popular "Windy" for the annual Pops concert. They also learned the Chichester Psalms by Leonard Bernstein, which they performed with the Spokane Junior symphony Orchestra January 16 in the Shadle Auditorium.

Treble Tempos (girls' ensemble) and Highlandaires (boys' ensemble) augmented the choral department. In the instrumental area, special ensembles included the stage band, woodwind quintet, and two string quartets.

The orchestra, band, and concert choir encouraged better performance through the challenge system. Members competed against each other for the highest class rating by chairs.

Art Classes Learn New Media Skills

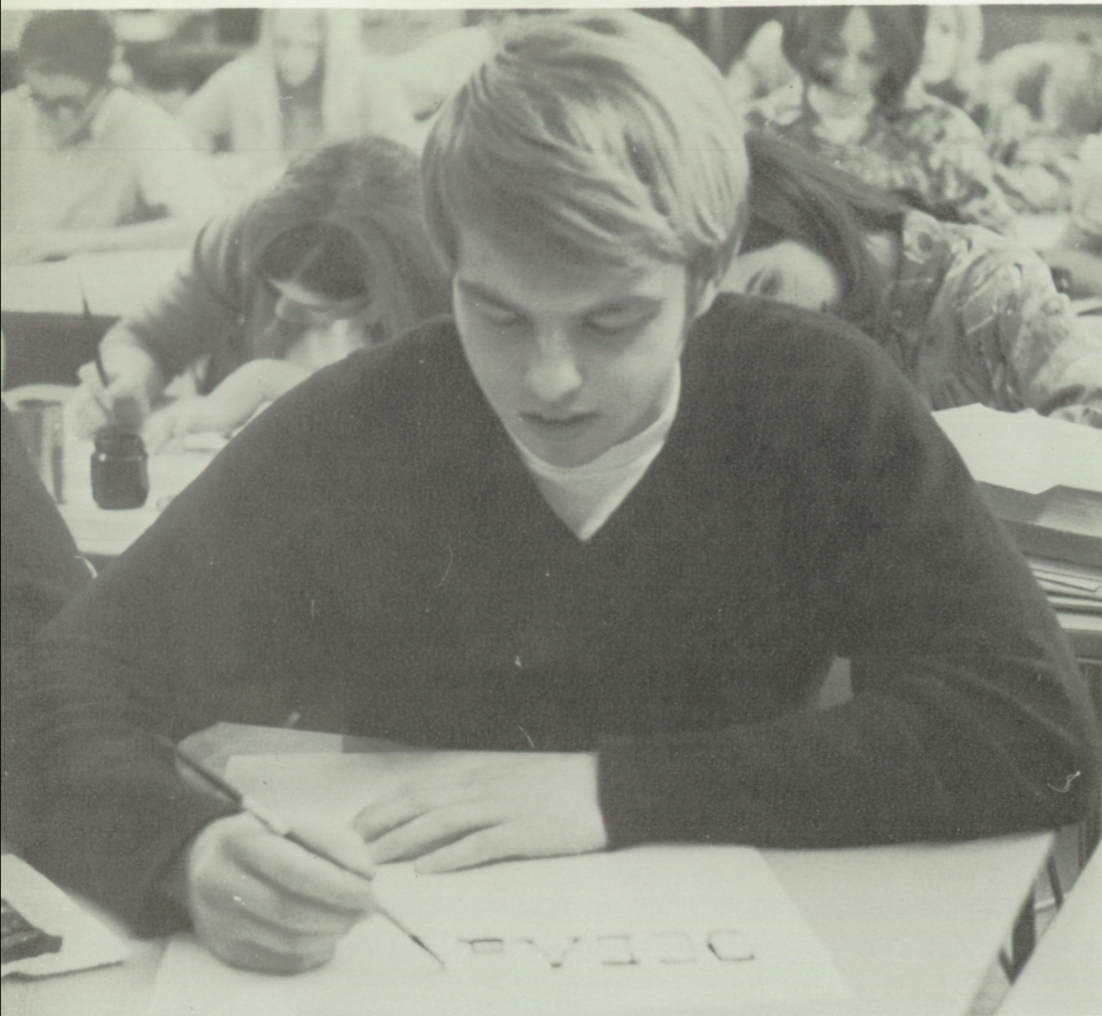

Commercial and 3-D art provided instructions in two additional media this year at the Shadle Art Department.

Mr. George Alex's 3-D art classes conducted experiments in metal and bronze casting. This form of casting involves melting wax figures and transforming them into bronze and metal statues. According to Mr. Alex, "this is a kind of miniature cast sculpture in bronze."

Commercial Art students used the new "air-brush" technique. This type of art uses compressed air drawn through an instrument resembling a fountain pen. Students used this to draw posters and other projects.

Making personalized Christmas cards and decorating the windows of the classrooms occupied art students during the holiday season. "It seems we're up to our ears in school service projects," remarked Mrs. Geraldine Couture, Commercial Art teacher.

ABOVE: Mark Grover carefully draws a scaled floor plan for his model house in Mr. Gilbert Brooks' architectural drawing class. Upon completion of his drawing he will construct a detailed three-dimensional model of the house.

Power Mechanics Join Industrial Arts Program

Introducing Power Mechanics as a special course of study, the Industrial Arts Department revised its curriculum in 1969 in an effort to keep pace with increasing demands for heavy machinery in industry today, emphasised Mr. Gilbert Brooks, department head.

Power Mechanics classes studied reciprocating, turbine and steam engines. The students learned how to obtain maximum work force from these engines and were also taught how to build, operate and maintain these heavy engines.

Electronics classes used a new study method and introduced new equipment. Advanced electronics students constructed such new items as a vacuum tube volt meter, siloscope, and a sine-square-wave generator.

These construction projects were in turn used as instructional aids for beginning electronics students as they learned instrumentation techniques. Opening a new field of electronics to the beginning students, these instruments enabled the students to be more precise in the building of their projects.

Architectural drawing students learned the use of scaling in the drawing of their renderings. Scaling also helped them in building a scale model from their renderings during the second semester class.

BELOW: Marty Mott watches while Doug Fountaine works on a four-cycle gas engine in Power Mechanics. These students, under the direction of Mr. Lemuel Hutchings, studied the principles of steam, using a steam-powered turbine engine.

ABOVE: Joe Durgan looks on as Wood Shop student Harry Eichstadt practices planing a board in preparation for his project. Gun racks, night stands, lamps, coffee and end tables constituted the bulk of projects students completed.

Home Ec Courses Gain More Student Enrollment

Enrollment in Home Economics classes increased due to growing interest among students in the variety of courses now offered. Co-ed Social Relations and Foods classes continued to expand allowing boys to study subjects originally for girls only.

For the third consecutive year boys invaded Foods classes, learning to cook, operate the range and wash dishes along with the girls. The classes are divided into little "families," each person responsible for a specific job in their kitchen unit.

Mrs. Kresel's Consumer Education classes learned wise money management using classroom books and discussions.

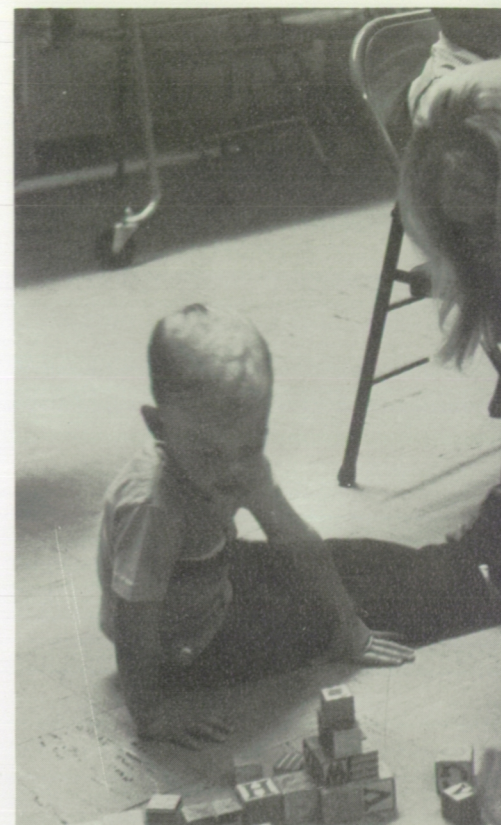

Clothing I and II classes assembled ponchos, beach bags, basic skirts, pants, and dresses while Advanced Clothing classes made jumpers with a jacket and a formal. Tailoring involved making a fall or spring coat.

For the second year, boys brought a different point of view to the Social Relations classes which offered materials taken from current articles and gave students an opportunity to gain a perspective of life through understanding themselves and others.

Child Development classes helped girls understand the behavior of children by class discussions and guest speakers. Observation sessions heightened class interest.

BELOW: Preparing their meals for a foods lab and getting their kitchen units cleaned and organized before the end of the period becomes a challenging task for the students in Foods 1. Students in the Foods classes learn to "eat their mistakes" added Mrs. Kresel, Home Ec teacher.

"It is the best!" exclaims Vicky Guzman, American Field Service student when speaking of Shadle Park's spirit. 17 year old Costa Rican, Vicky joined Shadle students for a year to study and assimilate U.S. life.

"I like the cons because they show the spirit of Shadle. When the band starts playing and the cheerleaders shout, I think it is exciting," Vicky added.

Participating in clubs and activities, Vicky showed her own spirit. She considers attending football games one of her favorite American spectator sports. Bowling also became a favorite sport of hers after accompanying the Spanish Club to a party. Another experience Vicky encountered included school dances. "I like the dances that Shadle has, but I can't dance! In Costa Rica we dance slower. But I am going to learn!"

Fall ASB Projects Challenge Council

Special money-raising and service projects paced ASB council efforts to unite the school. Students gained the use of the library court, formerly off-limits, and secured a juke box for the cafeteria.

Radio KGA sponsored a city-wide contest for the longest list of signatures and offered a record hop as the prize. Shadle won the mixer, "Night of the Dragon," and proceeds went to the Japanese sister school fund.

Corresponding with the national and local elections of the year, the ASB participated in a state-wide student mock election. Students gave speeches supporting major candidates over the public address system during "P.A. Politics Week," then voted for their choices for U.S. President and major state posts.

The nationally known Liverpool Five played in concert at Shadle to raise money for ASB Christmas projects. Students gave a Christmas party for children at the Cerebral Palsy Center downtown and also donated gifts to Interlake, a center near Medical Lake, Washington, for retarded children.

Mr. Wayne Chandler, ASB advisor, left Shadle and Mr. Cecil Robinette was named to succeed him. The council surprised Mr. Chandler with a farewell breakfast.

"Highlander Week", which was moved to an earlier date (September 23-27) to familiarize new students with Shadle traditions, brought new ideas to the annual event.

Monday, or Hi-Student Day, brought a day of no homework and a con.

Tuesday and Wednesday brought one of the new ideas for the week; Hi-Lassies and Clansmen auctioned themselves as slaves on Hi-Laddie and Hi-Lassie Day.

Students honored teachers on Thursday, Hi-Teacher Day, by giving cookies for a party.

Hi-Henderson Day ended the week with a color day honoring Shadle's Scottish heritage and traditions.

Coronation of the Friendliest Boy and Girl climaxed the week at the Highland Fling held on Friday night.

ASB Hosts 'Old-Fashioned' Christmas

Creating an atmosphere reminiscent of Grandma's day, the ASB decorated the Shadle Christmas Dance in an "old-fashioned" style.

Adorned with popcorn, cookies, tassels, and paper chains, a large tree graced the Senior Cove, which resembled a parlor of yesteryear. A realistic red-brick fireplace hung with stockings gave an impression of Christmas Eve.

Carrying out the "old-fashioned" theme elsewhere in decorations, an old pot-belly stove stood on the platform where the band performed. The Rotations, a rock group, provided the music.

Other ASB Christmas activities included the annual Christmas concert and convocation put on by the Music Department.

Art classes provided the programs for the concert using "Sounds of Music" as the theme.

Spring ASB Emphasizes Participation

Efforts to increase student pride and spirit typified ASB goals for the spring semester. "A major goal is to increase respect among students for Shadle and its traditions," resolved Dale Anderson as he assumed the office of president.

The spring council reinstated the Highlander committee, composed of both students and faculty. This group probed for solutions to problems concerning school life and student-faculty relations. Getting opinions from both sides helped build a better understanding.

Because of difficulties in working with the ASB constitution, the ASB formed a new committee to review it and propose changes. A two-thirds vote of the student body passed revisions concerning ammendment procedures, committee membership, officer qualifications, and election procedures.

Following tradition, the spring ASB council had the privilege of selecting the cheerleaders for the year of '69-70. The last of three tryouts brought many junior girls in front of the council in April for the final selection.

Clovers Decorate Dance

Supporting a theme of "Crimson & Clover," hearts and clover adorned the cafeteria for the ASB's Sweetheart Dance. Decorations followed a crimson, pink, and silver color scheme.

'68 Fall GL

Boasting the largest Big-Little Sister group ever at Shadle, consisting of approximately 800 girls, the 1968 Fall Girls' League began the year with the annual Big-Little Sister Con.

Called "Daisies Don't Tell", the con included brief talks by Pep Club, Hi-Lassie, and Girls' League officers. The League introduced foreign exchange student, Vicki Guzman, to the girls for the first time.

Helen Farris and Marcia Wolfe entertained the group with their folk singing. Adding a touch of humor to the con, the cheerleaders and Hi-Lassies presented a skit portraying the twelve years of school.

Gail Mohney, daughter of Shadle biology teacher Mr. Ray Mohney, appeared as a special guest speaker at the Girls' State Convocation held October 10. She spoke about the nation's capital.

Other speakers at the con included Shadle's Girls' State representatives Karen Somerville, Becky Gregory and Bonnie Johnson. They each explained an aspect of Girls' State, showed some slides, and sang "America, America."

Girls' League President Wendy Ramage and Vice-President Jean Ray also told about their experiences at the summer leadership conferences at Twinlow and Waskowitz.

GL Continues Tradition

Sponsoring the Sadie Hawkins Dance and Dad-Daughter Dessert, the fall Girls' League continued two annual events at Shadle.

"Our Sadie Hawkins is for any of the girls who have the courage to ask the 'special boy' of their life," joked fall Girls' League officers.

Costume judging during intermission named Jim Holland and Laura Saint Best Dressed Girl and Boy. Rhonda Hatch and Jackie Meredith, who dressed as a negro couple, fooled all judges and won the Best Dressed Couple award.

"Dads Night Out" titled the yearly occasion when the girls ask their dads out for an evening of enjoyment. This year a wrestling match entertained the dads and daughters. Mr. Lyle Pugh directed the Shadle Park wrestling team demonstration performance.

Pie and coffee were served before the program and Dorian Studio took pictures for those who desired them.

Many Participate in GL

"Our main objective is to get as many girls as possible involved in our activities," stated Girls' League President Bonnie Johnson. This goal encouraged the council, officers and Courtesy Committee to work together in Spring G.L.

As in previous years, the main activities of the League included the Cotton Day Dance and the Mother-Daughter Tea.

For an Easter project, the council presented small Easter baskets filled with candy to the children at the Garland School for the Physically Handicapped and the Cerebral Palsy School.

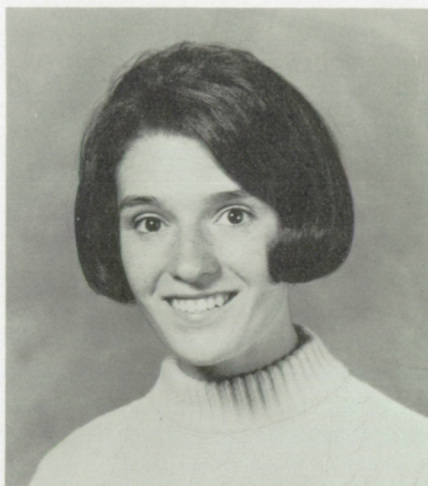

In addition to its usual duties of ushering and guiding, the Girls' League Courtesy Committee weekly took cookies to Midcity Concern, a recreation center for elderly.

Sue Russell Represents Shadle in Lilac Festival

Colorful lilacs and bubbling fountains keynoted the transformation of Shadle's stage into a spring setting of regalia equal to the coronation of the 1969 Lilac Princess.

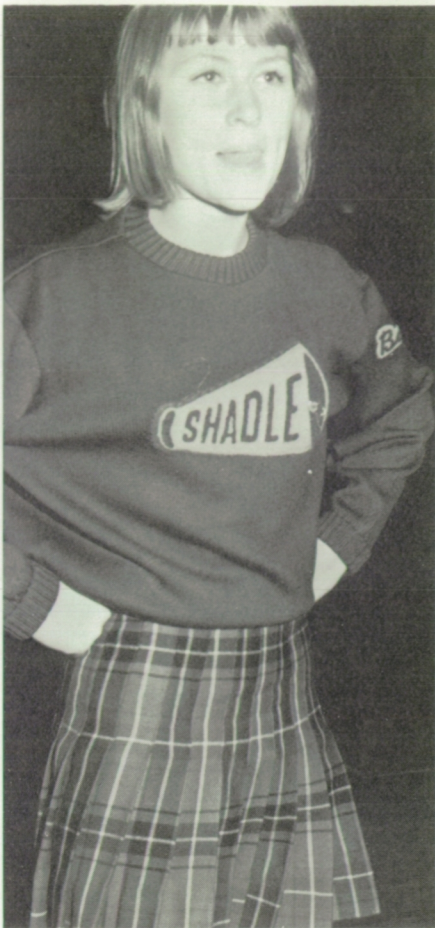

Candidates, judged on speaking ability, appearance, and poise, prepared a 3-5 minute speech which constituted one of several obstacles each finalist encountered on the path to the symbolic tiara.

As Mike Durgan, Master of Ceremonies, received the decisive envelope, a hush fell over the crowd of anticipating Highlanders. "Ladies and gentlemen," Mike began, "I am happy and very proud to announce Shadle's 1969 Lilac Princess is Miss Sue Russell."

Surprise, happiness and relief beamed from Sue's face as she first addressed Shadle students as their princess. "This has to be one of the happiest moments of my life," Sue related.

Presenting skits at pep cons, plastering the Commons and halls with spirit signs, and making tags for the teams to wear, occupied a large part of the cheerleaders time.

The cheerleaders also hosted a watermelon feed, a dinner, and a breakfast for the football, wrestling, and basketball teams, respectively.

Receiving corsages from the Clansmen and bracelets from the football team demonstrated the appreciation the teams felt for the cheerleader's support of their activities.

Attending almost all of Shadle's games as cheerleaders or spectators, and teaching the juniors how to cheer filled out the schedule of the cheerleaders.

Spring activities for Hi-Lassies included a dance with a psychedelic theme, titled "Incense and Peppermint." Hi-Lassies also performed a revised version of 'Pinocchio' for their spring con.

Making spirit tags for the athlete's lockers, honoring the football team with victory cakes, and preparing a surprise spaghetti dinner in appreciation of the football team headlined Pep Club's list of spirited activities.

Pep Club began the new year in a new uniform consisting of a green A-line skirt, white sweater bearing the Pep Club emblem, knee highs, gold tennis shoes, and green tam with a gold pom pom.

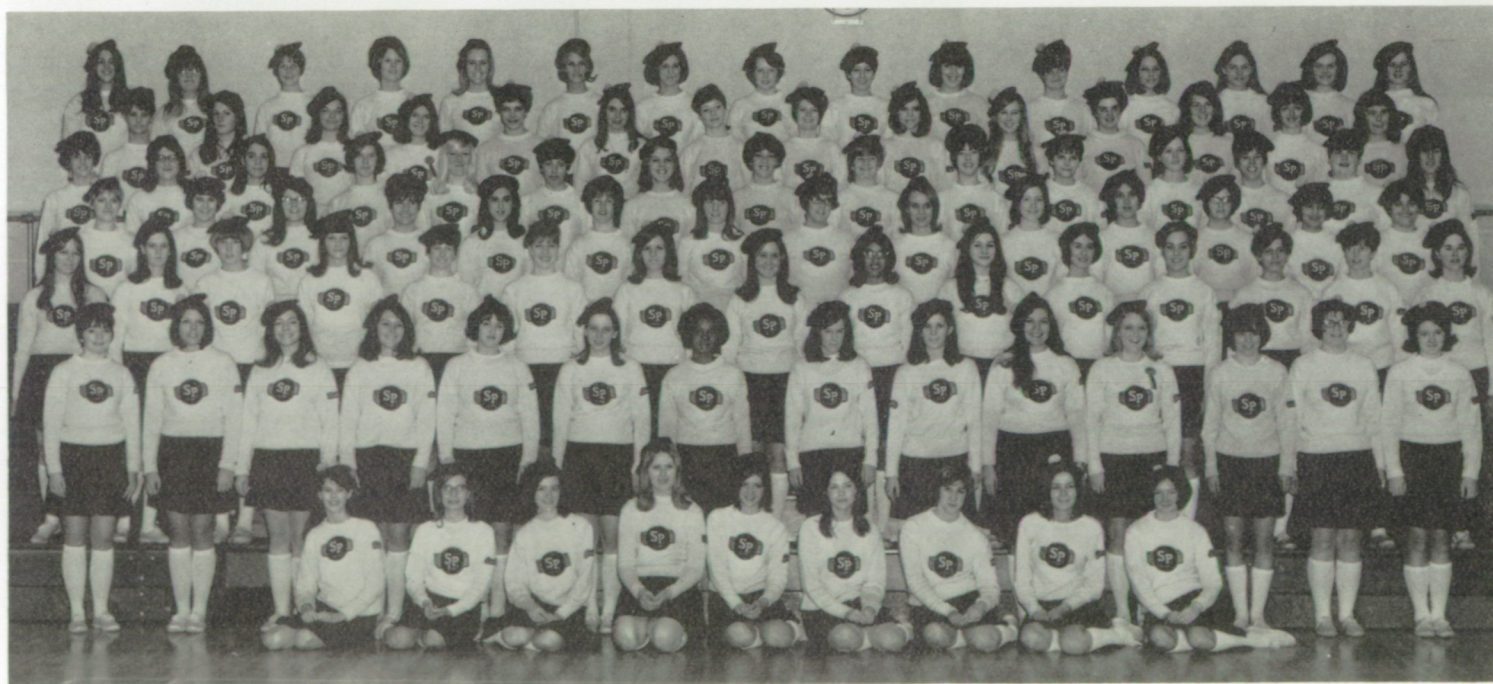

Shadle's annual Highland Fling, "McTavish Forever," proved to be the club's biggest money making activity. The girls also made money by selling game programs.

Shadle Clubs Sponsor Yearly Projects

Providing support for outside organizations, two of Shadle's service clubs, Clansmen and Great Scots, sponsored doughnut and licorice sales throughout the year. Proceeds from the sales went to such organizations as the Hutton Settlement and the Shriners Hospital.

Continuing in the tradition of the Shadle Clansmen, this year's group sponsored activities ranging from the KJRB All-American basketball game to canned food drives to help needy families.

Emphasizing school spirit, the Great Scots attended school pep cons and sporting events. Activities of the Great Scots included taking turkeys to an orphanage for Thanksgiving and caroling at Christmas time.

"The Ski Club has become the largest, most enthusiastic, and fastest growing club in the school," observed Tim McWilliams, fall president. "Its purpose is to provide services such as a car pool to Mt. Spokane and a repair shop for the skiers."

Area Gains New Sound

Trombone soloist Buddy Baker made his first Spokane appearance at Shadle's twelfth annual Pops Concert held November 15. Mr. Baker played in the Indianapolis Philharmonic and in the Indiana University Symphony and Brass Choir where he attended college.

As the first high school band of its sort in Spokane, Shadle's new symphonic band introduced a "harder grade of music" according to Mr. John Harris, director. Both the symphonic and the concert bands combined sounds during football and basketball season to perform various half-time stunts.

A mid-winter band concert proved to be a success and brought renewed efforts for an even better Encore Concert held in late April. The traditional Smorgasbord Concert featured all bands and choruses in the music department for a 'smorgasbord of music.'

Olympic College in Bremerton, Washington, hosted Shadle's stage band and 26 other rival bands for a weekend stage band festival. The stage band also displayed its preforming talents at the Idaho Jazz Festival in Moscow.

Quartet, Trio

Shadle's Music Department formed a new string quartet and trio for 1969. "Shadle is the only high school in Spokane, to my knowledge, to have two instrumental ensembles," Mr. John Harris, music director, explained.

Both ensembles play music "for all occasions," Mr. Harris indicated. They performed for different organizations throughout the community.

Scheduled as the orchestra's first event of the year, the annual Pop's Concert featured guest artist Edwin "Buddy" Baker. In the November 15 concert, Mr. Baker, a trombone soloist and clinician, played "Cello Concerto" with the orchestra.

March 1 at EWSC, the quartet and trio competed in a solo-ensemble contest. Each group played one number for judging.

Improves; Director Gives High Praise

"Seventy-five concert band members have performed a harder brand of music and improved their mental attitude this year," observed Mr. John Harris, music department head.

The concert band travelled throughout the Northwest to numerous contests and concerts.

Members of the woodwind quintet represented Washington at a Music Educator's Conference held in Eugene, Oregon, March 19-22. These students received high recommendations for the conference.

Thirty-five students attended a sight reading clinic in Pullman, October 19. Band members of various high schools played new music together for the first time. Mr. Harris explained this gave students a chance to talk with other high school musicians.

Shadle's band and majorettes participated with four other bands in Seattle at the University of Washington—Rice University game. At the University of Washington's band day, September 21, Shadle performed during half-time and before the game.

The pre-game stunts included the formation of the United States emblem and eagle, plus the U.S.A. map.

At WSU's band program the band and majorettes performed with 35 other high schools, October 19, at the stadium.

A band contest took place here April 26. All competing bands played three numbers they prepared and sight read. Four judges decided upon the winners.

Later in the spring a mixture of eight music groups exhibited their talents in the Smorgasbord concert May 23.

Practicing to perfect their part of the score, Howard Bass, Karen Hedges, Kathy Haskins, and Lisa Favaro pay strict attention to their clarinet parts for a coming concert. Concert band members met fourth period five days a week in order to rehearse for numerous performances throughout the Northwest.

Pipers, Dancers Boosts School Spirit

Thirteen proved to be lucky this year for the Pipe Band. Enrollment of pipers increased from seven to ten and one side drummer joined the other two percussionists, for a total of thirteen members.

Enrollment of dancers dropped from ten to eight this year. The "100 Pipers" dance, featuring four dancers, premiered September 27—Hi-Henderson Day. It also required new uniforms with hats.

Bagpipe and Highland dancing performances helped build school spirit at pep cons this year. The familiar sound of the pipes could be heard throughout the building when the band and dancers performed on Hi-Henderson Day.

Mr. Thomas surprised the parents by playing "Tom Dooley", "O Susannah", "Grandfather's Clock", and many other favorites.

Scottish music's popularity increased this year as a result of many groups and clubs requesting performances at out-of-school activities. The band and dancers also performed at Edgecliff Sanatorium and Eastern Washington State Hospital.

The pipers marched and played in the annual Lilac Parade during the Lilac Festival this year.

The band played at most of the pep cons and one football game. Bagpipe and Highland Dancing performances helped build school spirit. Four new pipers and one side drummer joined the band this year for a total of thirteen members. Mr. Thomas met with the pipers every Monday after school for a critical study of their playing. He played with the band on several occasions this year. FRONT ROW: Sandy Holt, Jackie Bishop, Shelly Gaidoes, Betsy

Music Department Enjoys Active Year

Participating in concerts and fund raising projects led to a busy year for the vocal department under the direction of Mr. Melvin Kornmeyer.

In a program featuring the vocal and music groups, the annual Pop's Concert presented guest trombone artist, Edwin "Buddy" Baker.

A combined effort of both the departments, the annual spaghetti dinner proved to be most successful, as in the past.

Highlandaires and Treble Tempos performed as a mixed unit, as well as individual groups at various school and civic affairs.

Continuing last year's method of testing, students in Concert Choir memorized lines from a particular song to perform before the class in groups of four.

Girl's Chorus and Mixed Chorus gave students an opportunity to further an interest in music without being as competitive as Concert Choir.

Sporran Staff Strives to Maintain National Ratings

Working to maintain top-ratings in national judging, the 1969 Sporran staff adopted a new three-column format in the Shadle yearbook, which will be used as a demonstration book in the Inland Empire area.

Shadle's 1968 Sporran received the two highest ratings possible last year: the Columbia Scholastic Press Award—"Medialist" and the National Scholastic Press Award—"All American." Shadle is the only school its size, west of the Mississippi, to receive both of these awards this year. Cheryl Canody, editor, stated, "We are doing our best for a repeat performance."

Sporran advisor, Mr. Ted Clark, stresses professional and accurate layout plans in class. Outside of regular class criteria, Mr. Clark planned and accompanied the Sporran staff on a field trip to the Pischel Yearbooks, Inc., in Pasco.

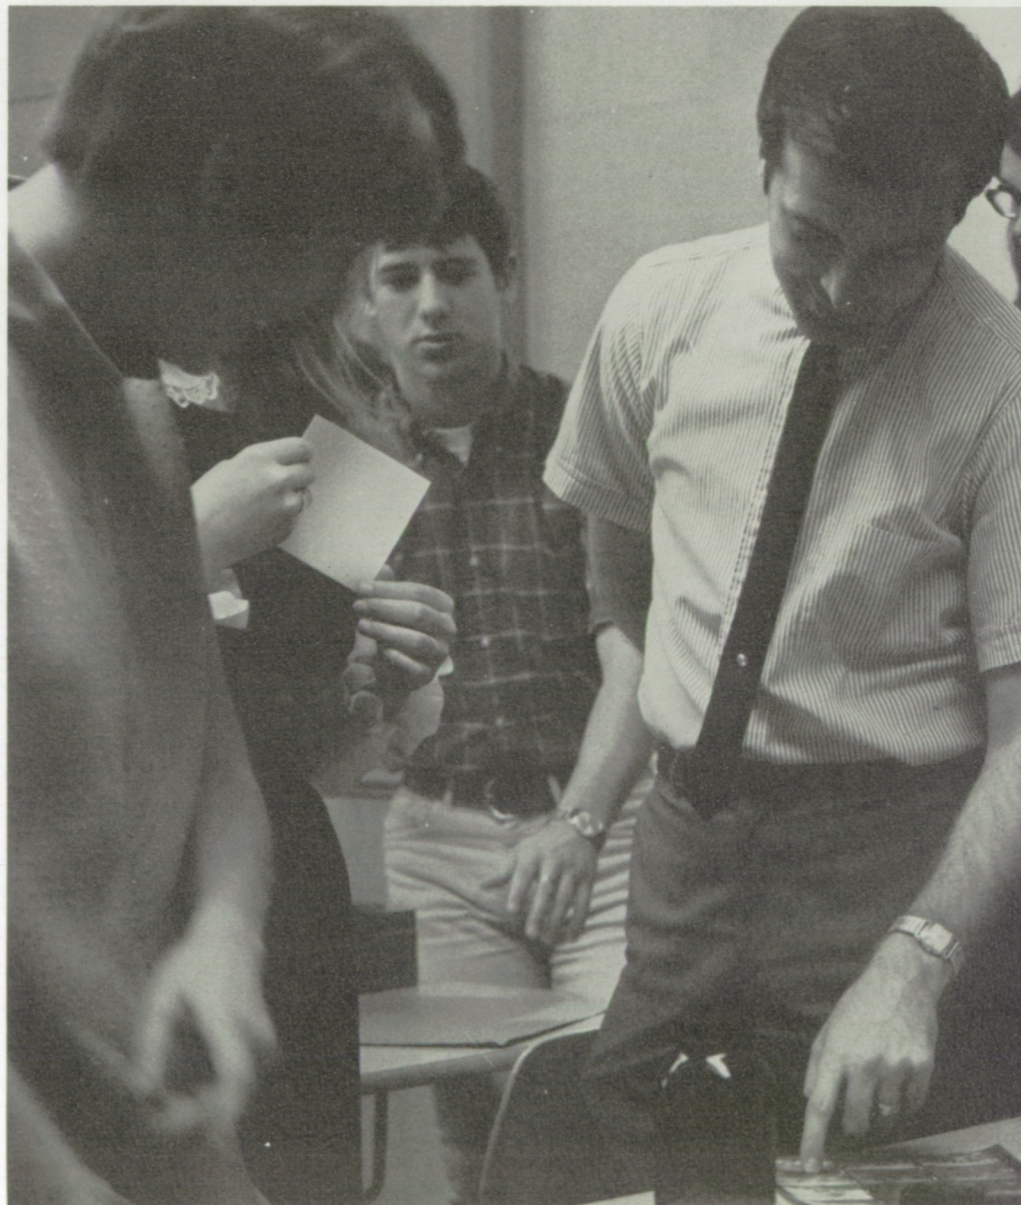

Assistant editor, Sandy McDonald, represented the Sporran in a summer clinic at Indiana University where she studied yearbook layout and planning.

Hi-Lander Hi-Lites Continues Tradition

Rated nationally among the top 10 percent of high school papers, The Hi-Lander Hi-Lites continues its award-winning tradition. The '68 issues won the highest award given to a high school newspaper in the United States—the "All American" title from the National Scholastic Press Association.

This year the Hi-Lites staff consists of eleven reporters, three business managers and three photographers.

The Hi-Lites goal this year includes maintaining the top quality of the newspaper and providing readers with interesting news and features.

To recognize the work involved in publishing the Hi-Lites, the staff gave a "suprise coffee break" for the Acme Printing employees and received in return a plant tour to watch the printing process.

German Club plans included joint meetings with other high school clubs.

Initiation into Le Cercle Francais, Shadle's French Club, included a potluck dinner followed by contests during which new members demonstrated various physical abilities and talents.

Several members of the Los Amigos Spanish Club obtained pen pals from countries in Central and South America.

Latin Club's planned activities included a potluck dinner with North Central, car washes, bake sales, and other fund raising activities.

Caroling for patients at Holy Family Hospital followed by a dinner at a local restaurant occupied German Club's agenda.

Parties, projects, and entertainment busied the Aqua Tartans and the Future Teachers of America.

As a traditional Christmas project the Aqua Tartans gave a swimming party complete with refreshments for the Morning Star Boy's Ranch. Highlighting an active year, the girls presented their annual production number. Held May 10, "Pot Pourri" featured special pool effects, decorations and costume.

Conferences headed the year for FTA. On November 15 Pasco, Washington set the scene for the Regional conference at which members attended. The Spokane Chamber of the March of Dimes sponsored a conference about children born with Birth Defects held at Shadle.

An exchange school day took place between FTA members from Shadle Park and Rosalia High School. This was a day in which members from both the clubs spent one day at the other school.

Clubs Push

Dileas Chailin and Key Club, Shadle honorary clubs, combined traditional activities with new ones to round out an eventful year. A joint sledding party brought the two clubs together to take advantage of the record snowfall.

Dileas Chailin held its traditional Dad-Daughter potluck in October and an alumni tea during Christmas vacation. In the spring the junior girls gave a tea for senior girls and their mothers.

To promote culture, Dileas held a Fine Arts Festival in May. Shadle students performed on different days for art, drama, fashion, music, and dance. Members also attended various concerts, plays, Service projects included helping at Shadle Center's annual Halloween window-painting contest and donating the biggest collection of toys to radio KGA, which distributed them among poverty areas in Spokane.

Commercial, DE Clubs Stress Careers

Students in the Distributive Education and Commercial clubs engaged in learning the fundamentals of marketing, merchandising, and management. This broadened their business knowledge and stressed the importance of their future careers.

A Governor's Conference in Olympia highlighted DE's activities. Two Deca members hold state offices, making this the first time in W-Deca history that more than one officer comes from the same school. Jay Knott, a Hi-Deca member, holds the state president's office and John Viger, a member of Deca-Fi, is the state treasurer.

Various other activities kept club members busy including fund-raising projects, guest speakers, and field trips. Deca representatives also attended the State and National Leadership Conferences.

Commercial Club members sponsored an all-school typing contest. Business field trips and the sponsoring of a nursing home for senior citizens as a Christmas service project added to the club's various activities.

Clubs Stress Co-Ed Night, Scholarship

Money making projects and co-ed night highlighted this year's events for Home Ec Club and Caileag Clan.

Caileag Clan members focused their attention on the promotion of co-ed night. This all girl's sports club of 35 junior and senior girls undertook the task of planning the six co-ed nights scheduled this year. Club members brought various candy refreshments for those who attended.

The annual Clan installation picnic took place at the Bowl and Pitcher in May for new officers and members. Advisors Mrs. Charlotte Jones and Mrs. Patricia Woodard attended all activities and meetings.

Money making projects for a Scholarship Fund busied Home Ec Club members this year. Cookbook and bake sales helped raise money for the fund which is awarded to a college bound member in the spring.

Talent and ability characterized this year's activities of the Talent, Eldah Tra Art and Thespian Clubs. Introducing special abilities ranging from art to acting proved to be the clubs' main objectives.

Eldah Tra Art Club conducted their annual Christmas project of making corsages and selling them. Attracting publicity, the club designed the program covers for "Get Witch Quick." Members also attended numerous art shows and various local art collections.

After helping students to develop talent and poise in front of an audience, the Talent Club appeared at local functions and student convocations. The experience prepared them for future public appearances.

"Get Witch Quick" and the Children's Theater performances, two major projects of the Thespians, drew large audiences from students and adults alike. After two months of practice, a cast of twenty-three performed "The Princess and the Swineherd" before audiences at northside elementary schools. The group toured these schools for almost nine weeks.

'Intellects'

Traveling to North Idaho Junior College, the Debate Team, one of four SP groups, built their year's activities around discussion by taking second place. The members debated against other area schools on a topic chosen for national use.

Selling paperback books enabled the Library Club to purchase new books for the library. Broadening their activities, they wrote book reviews for the Hi-Lander Hi-Lites.

Following a tobogganning party, the Quill and Scroll members attended a chili feed, completing their winter activities. During the spring, the members sponsored the Publication Banquet for the newspaper and yearbook staffs.

Though mainly a political discussion group, the Demarians covered a wide variety of topics ranging from philosophy to religion. Bringing in films and speakers, they promote the spread of free thought and ideas.

Skills of Hand, Eye Bring Satisfaction

Working mainly with the English and Social Studies departments at Shadle, seven students, advised by Mr. Ted Clark, accepted responsibility for programming and operating the "VTR."

Original programming accounted for less than half of the total taping, the rest recorded from broadcast programs. Mr. Clark stated, "Beyond its primary aim of replaying academic programs, the most valuable aspect of the equipment was its use as an aid in the evaluation of student teachers."

Rifle Club members practiced their skills twice weekly, seeking a higher National Rifle Association rating. They also participated in three matches with other rifle groups.

Shadle's Chess Club members spent each Thursday after school competing with each other to gain a higher individual rating on the club's "ladder." They also found time for numerous matches with other city high school clubs.

Experience, youth hamper

Footballers Build Attitude

"Varsity football," stated Coach Gary Davis, "was young and inexperienced. Nine juniors started defense and four on offense. The only returning lineman who even played in a game before was Tom Amann, so more juniors than ever before will letter this year."

Coach Davis said, "I was pleased with the confidence shown during practice to win every game. They worked and hit hard." He continued, "Never did I see them go into a game thinking they would lose. Much effort was put forward in each game. While trying so hard, many mistakes were made."

Leading the city in pass receptions (26 for 599 yards), Bruce Wideman was chosen by the Spokesman-Review and the Chronicle for first team end. The Chronicle also chose John Luher for second team alternate. Luher led the city in passing with 1,077 yards.

Randy Nelson placed fourth in the city in rushing. The Spokesman-Review chose him for first team defensive back because of his outstanding two-way playing.

'B' Team Aims for Quality, Perfection

"More experience is all that is needed to make these boys fine football players. They are real fine athletes that will help the varsity next year," commented 'B'-squad coach Jim Brown. "The boys I had this year were some of the best individual players I have ever coached and no team should have beaten us." He continued, "Their fine potential should eliminate the costly mental and physical errors."

"The season's play showed some great potential in tackles Bill Grigsby and Rick Favaro, also halfback and end Dave Barker," mentioned Coach Brown. "They and some other standouts will make good additions for next year's varsity team," he continued.

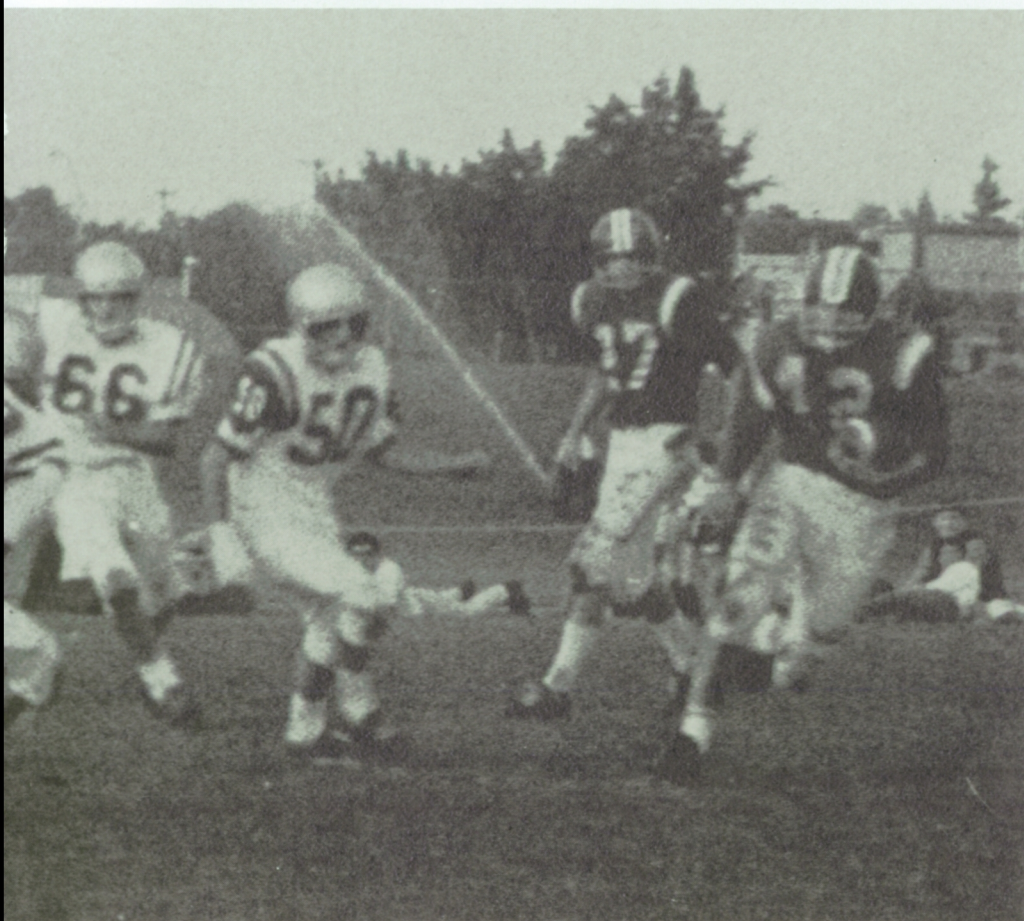

"With fine coaching and determination, the 'B'-squad will go on to higher positions to carry on Shadle's spirit. More victories are inevitable next fall," concluded Coach Brown.

C.C. Team Captures 3rd In All-City Competition

Compiling the best record since 1965, the Shadle Park Varsity Cross-Country team placed third in the City League competition. Dominated by Brian Hutchinson and Dave Probst, both seniors; Mark Dimond, a junior; and Chuck Walker, a sophomore; the varsity cross-country team attained a record of six wins and two losses.

Coach Harvey Lochhead described the team as being, "Small, hardworking, and energetic." Running further than any other team in previous years, individual team members averaged 30 miles a week and went on to run 300 to 400 miles during the whole season.

Shadle hosted many meets this year, one of the biggest being the Fifth Annual Highlander Invitational. It drew many competitors from city and valley high schools. Brian Hutchinson placed third in the senior division, Mark Dimond came in sixth in the junior division, and Chuck Walker finished third in the sophomore division.

RIGHT: Mark Dimond strengthens his lead in the North Central dual meet. Mark led Shadle to avenge their loss of the previous year when NC beat them for the first time in Shadle's history. The final score was SP 25, NC 33.

'B' Runners

LEFT: Competing in a dual meet with Rogers, Grant Christenson, 'B'-squad runner, nears the final stretch on the three mile course. Grant placed second in the meet with a time of 18:10.

Balance Team; Pull Fourth in League

"Small in quantity, but large in quality," described the 'B'-squad cross country team according to Coach Harvey Lochhead. "The team was well balanced this year. Usually a pack of opponent runners finished behind the last Shadle man." With a team record of three wins and two losses, the 'B'-squad finished fourth in City League Junior Varsity competition.

The two mile cross-country course was extended to three miles this year by the Washington State Track Commission. Although this did not hinder Shadle's running performance, Coach Lochhead is hoping to see the two mile course back again next year.

LEFT: Scott Williams strains to maintain his lead in the Junior Division race of the Fifth Annual Highlander Invitational. He went on to attain a time of 11:16 on the two mile course.

BELOW: Pursued by a Rogers runner, Paul Freese rounds the corner of the half mile mark. The 'B'-squad won over Rogers with a score of 18 to 39. Paul finished with a time of 18:36.

Through last-minute efforts, four varsity first and second place winners at the District wrestling meet, earned the right to wrestle in the State competition at Ellensburg. They included seniors Dean Largent, Tom Amann, Rick Hansen and Wayne Westwood.

The four competed along with four other wrestlers sent to the District meet, after winning five championships and three consolation championships at the Sub-district meet.

Shadle wrestlers took fourth place in the District standings by taking two championships, two seconds, and two fourths.

As a team, the varsity wrestlers completed a difficult season with two wins out of eighteen matches. "We just didn't have the depth and overall strength for a dual-team season," commented head coach Lyle Pugh.

seven out of the twelve league matches he wrestled in, a consolation championship at the Sub-district meet and a fourth place at the District meet.

'B'-squad wrestlers completed a strong season this year, compiling a five-win, two-loss, and one tie record in league competition.

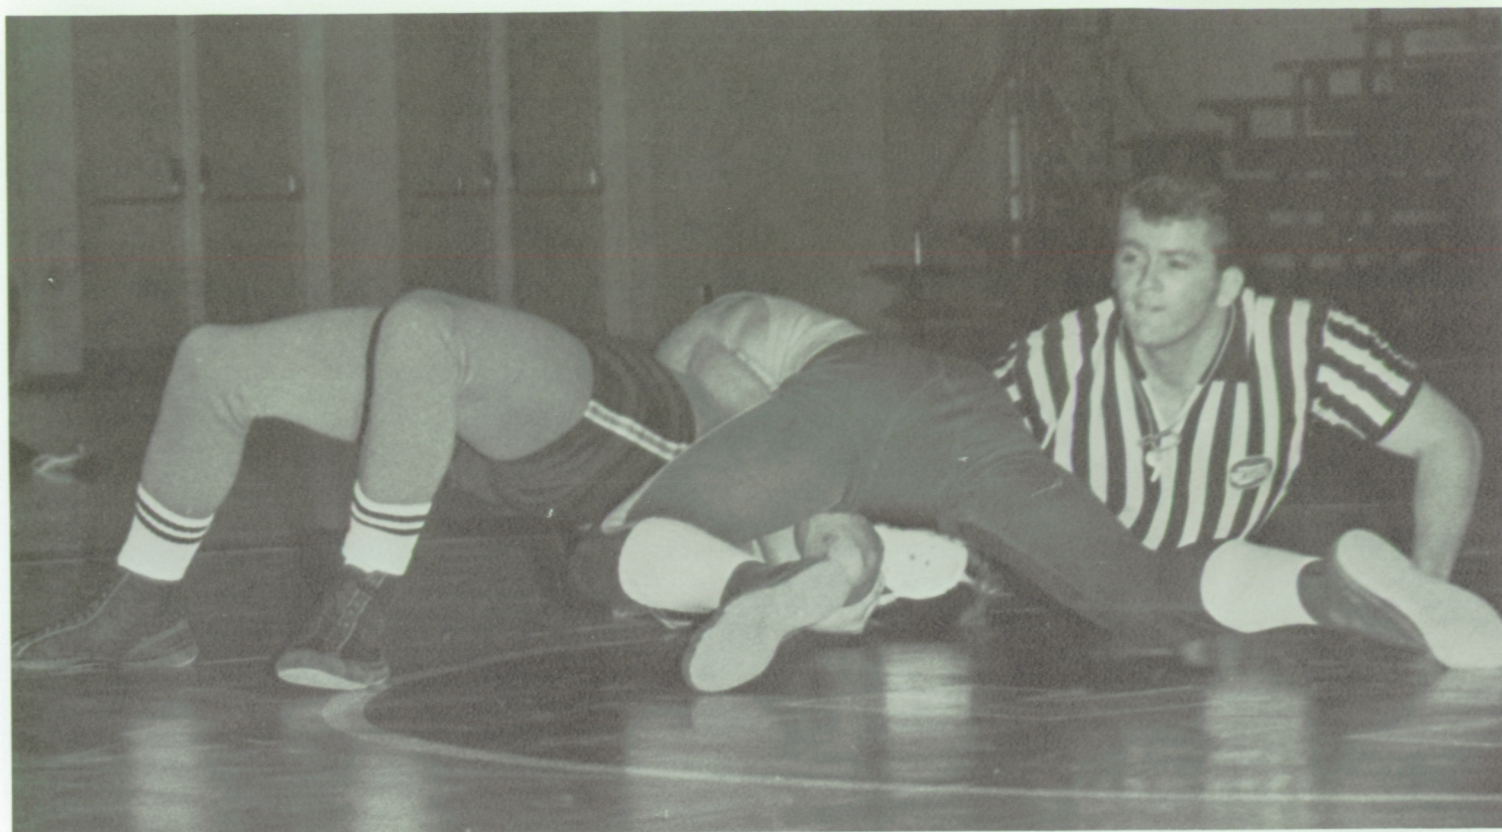

"We have some real fine sophomores and juniors ready for next year's varsity team. They have steadily improved throughout this year," commented head coach Lyle Pugh. Wrestlers from the 'B'-squad will fill the vacancies left by five varsity seniors.

Shadle's varsity basketball team scored second place in All-City league standings with an 8 win 2 loss season record, thus winning a spot in the regional playoffs, the first step towards a state berth.

The team won games with Ferris, West Valley and Gonzaga but lost in a close game to Rogers, 55-53, to place second in the annual Christmas tournament.

"This is the tallest team in the history of the school," remarked Coach Dave Robertson of the varsity team. "They are also as good as any of the best teams in the past," he continued. "I believe our fast-break playing and defensive press paid off in the 'key moment' games," added Coach Robertson.

Chosen as a first squad member of the All-City team, Gene Rostvold received commendations from the Spokane Daily Chronicle and the Spokesman Review. Gene led the city in outside shooting and in total scoring he wound up third, with 143 points.

Basketball Team Barely Misses State

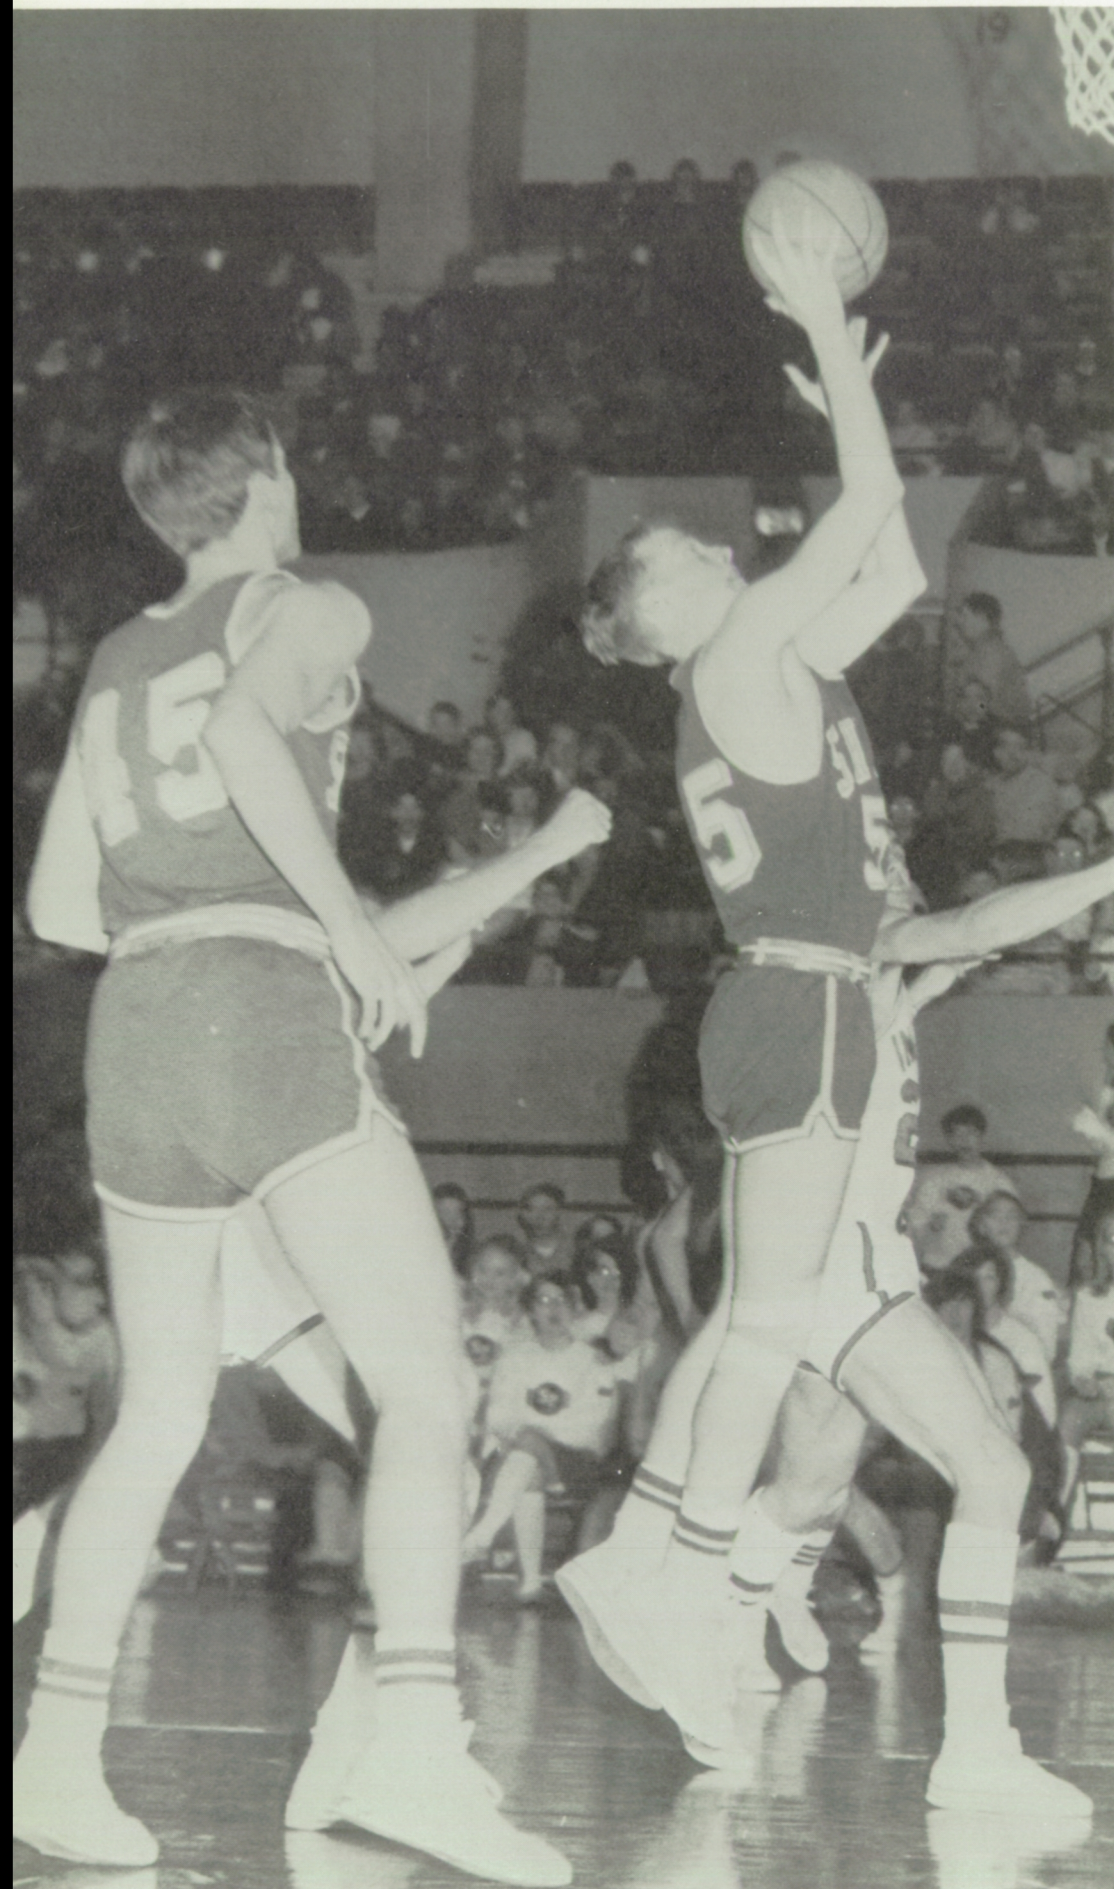

Barely missing a state berth, SP hoopers came in third in regional playoffs by defeating Ferris and Gonzaga Prep in two of the four district contests. Losses to West Valley and University cost the team a chance at a state title.

Shadle Park ran up a 25 point lead early in the Ferris game and went on to win 69-59. Hindered by University's strong zone defense, Shadle lost 59-39 in the second district game.

For the third time, Shadle turned the tables on Gonzaga, the city champs, by beating them 59-50. Shadle Park, when still in the running, lost to West Valley 53-47.

B Team Nets Second; Surges Forward

The B-squad finished second place in the All-City standings with a record of 12 wins and 4 losses. Coach Jim Elvington explained, "Our defense held their opponents to an average of 45.6 points per game, which is excellent."

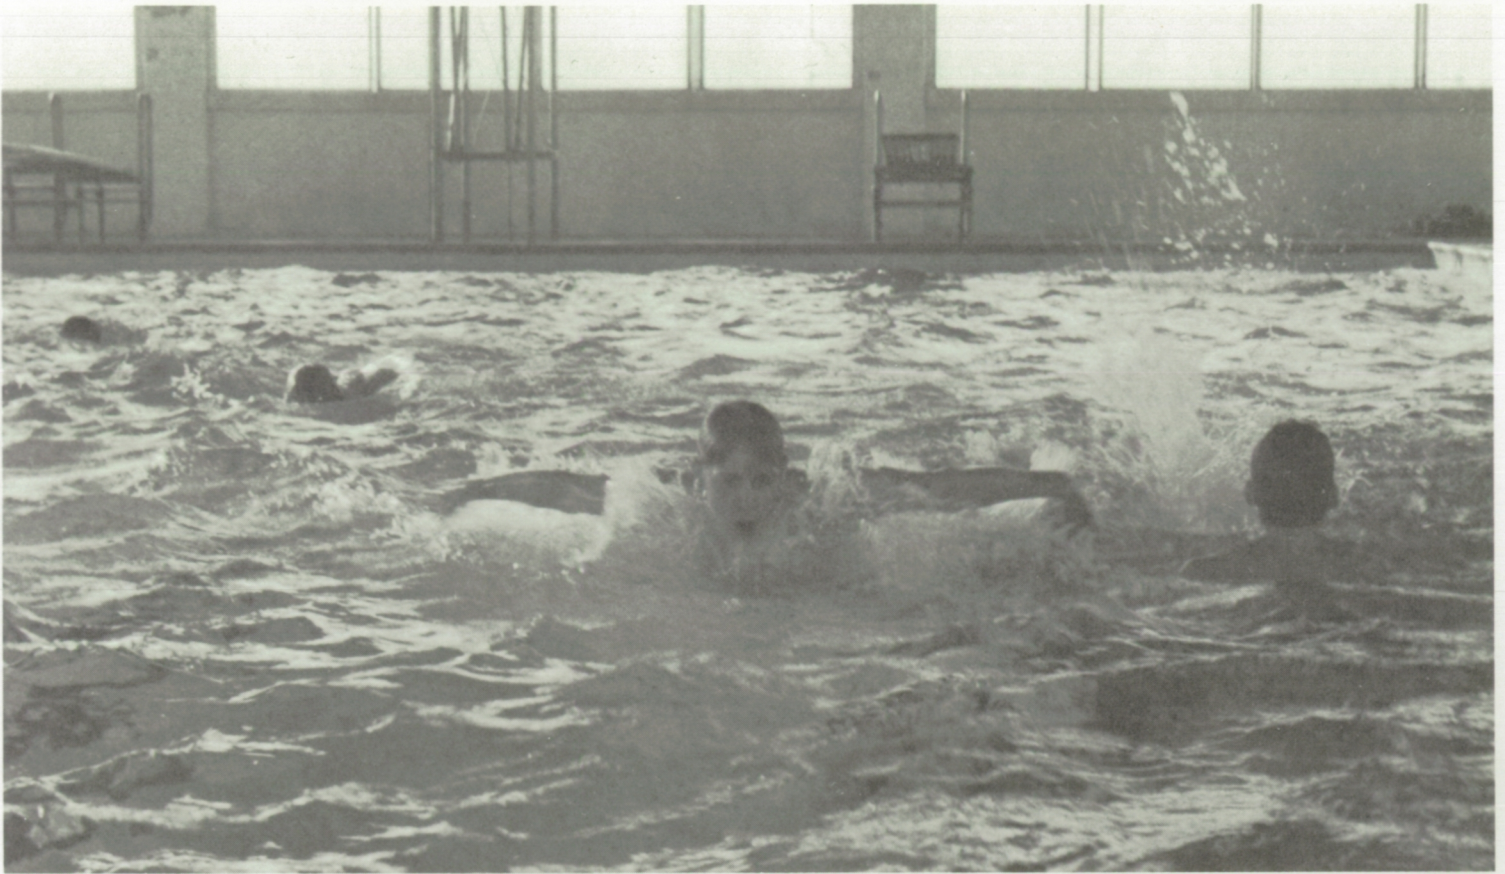

Coach went on to say, "Our team has the best and largest group of sophomores in the city." He continued, "The team has the longest winning streak ever accumulated by a B-basketball team, 7 in a row. Over all it is just a fine team, that will be a big boost to the varsity in the years to come."

"Bob Jorgenson and Phil Jones gave the biggest scoring punch. Wes Graham, Dave Barker, and Barry Sartz, were the outstanding defense players. A lot of other players are coming on and showing great potential," added Coach. "The team showed a lot of spirit and supported each other at game time," summed up the Coach.

Swimmers Snag First; Six Compete For State

Coached by Mr. Clyde Combs, the twenty-eight member boys' swim team produced a good season placing first in the city and qualifying six members for State competition.

Competitors who qualified as one of the top three in the district or met specified qualifying times during any other meet went to the State finals. The meet took place in Seattle March 7th and 8th.

Marty Mott qualified for the 50-100 yard free-style event. Barry Wallace swam the 100 yard butterfly and 200 yard individual medley and Bob Neudorfer raced the 100 yard butterfly.

Rusty Kruse entered the 400 yard free-style race, Keith Semler qualified for the 200 yard free-style and 100 yard backstroke and Jim Kidwell swam the 200 yard individual medley.

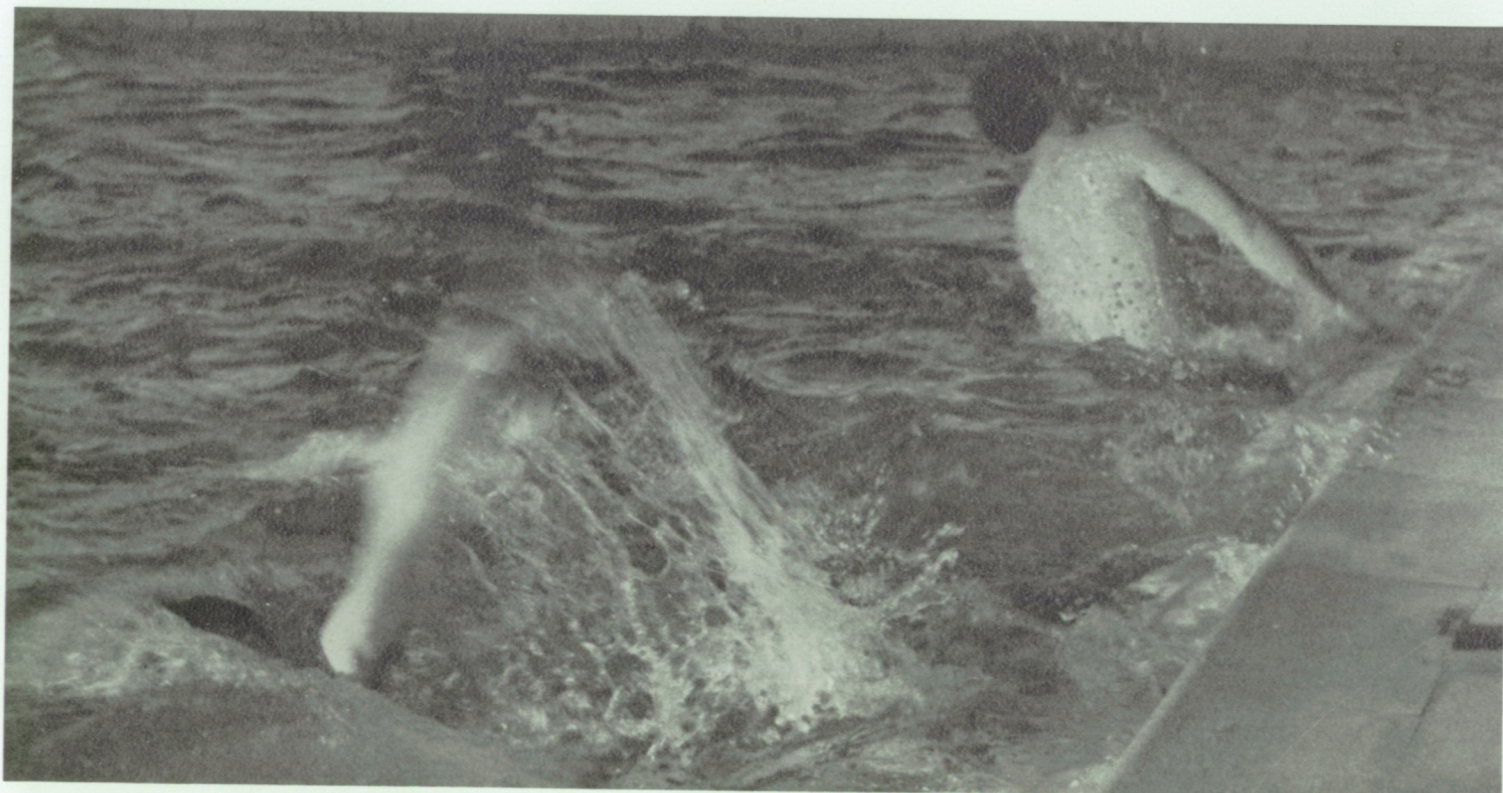

In preparation for their numerous meets, the team practiced every night after school.

Gymnasts Exhibit Coordination, Balance

Shadle's gymnastic teams competed as separate boys' and girls' units again this year. The girls' team finished their season in late winter, while the boys were just beginning to turn out.

After a triumphant season in the city league, the girls' gymnastics team won the State regional held at Lewis and Clark High School on March 8. Janet Tomsha, Patty Rautio, Kathy Whitehead, Janis Wright, Debbie Vaughn, and Jeri Youd qualified for the state meet held in Bothell, Washington, the weekend of March 15. Shadle placed third at state, with four girls placing in the top three of their events.

Boys' Coach Carlos Flores said, in anticipation of the coming season, "this will be a building year." With a team made up largely of sophomores, the boys' team hoped to develop a few surprises for their opposition. With only one senior on the team, however, experience was needed the most.

Snow Hampers Runners

Team Displays Early Season Strength

"Although the winter weather hampered the start of the track season, it could be the reason for Shadle's early season strength," explained Harvey Lockhead, varsity track coach. "The team ran in Shadle's halls and steps to avoid the low temperatures and the snowy ground."

"Shadle's strength was concentrated in the short distance runs, particularly in the 100 yard dash, and the 220, the 440, and the 880 yard runs. We have the best sprinters in Shadle's history this year," commented Coach.

Sophomores and juniors made up the bulk of the teams' ability, supported by the performances of seniors Dave Probst and Brian Hutchinson in the mile and the 880. Mark Zimmerman, Bruce Wideman, and Dave Burnham, seniors, also returned to compete in the field events.

The first meet, against Mead, proved the teams' early season strength, with an easy victory over the Panthers.

Tracksters

Explaining that this year's 'B' squad shows great potential, Coach Harvey Lockhead commented that on the "average they are as good, if not better, than last year's varsity."

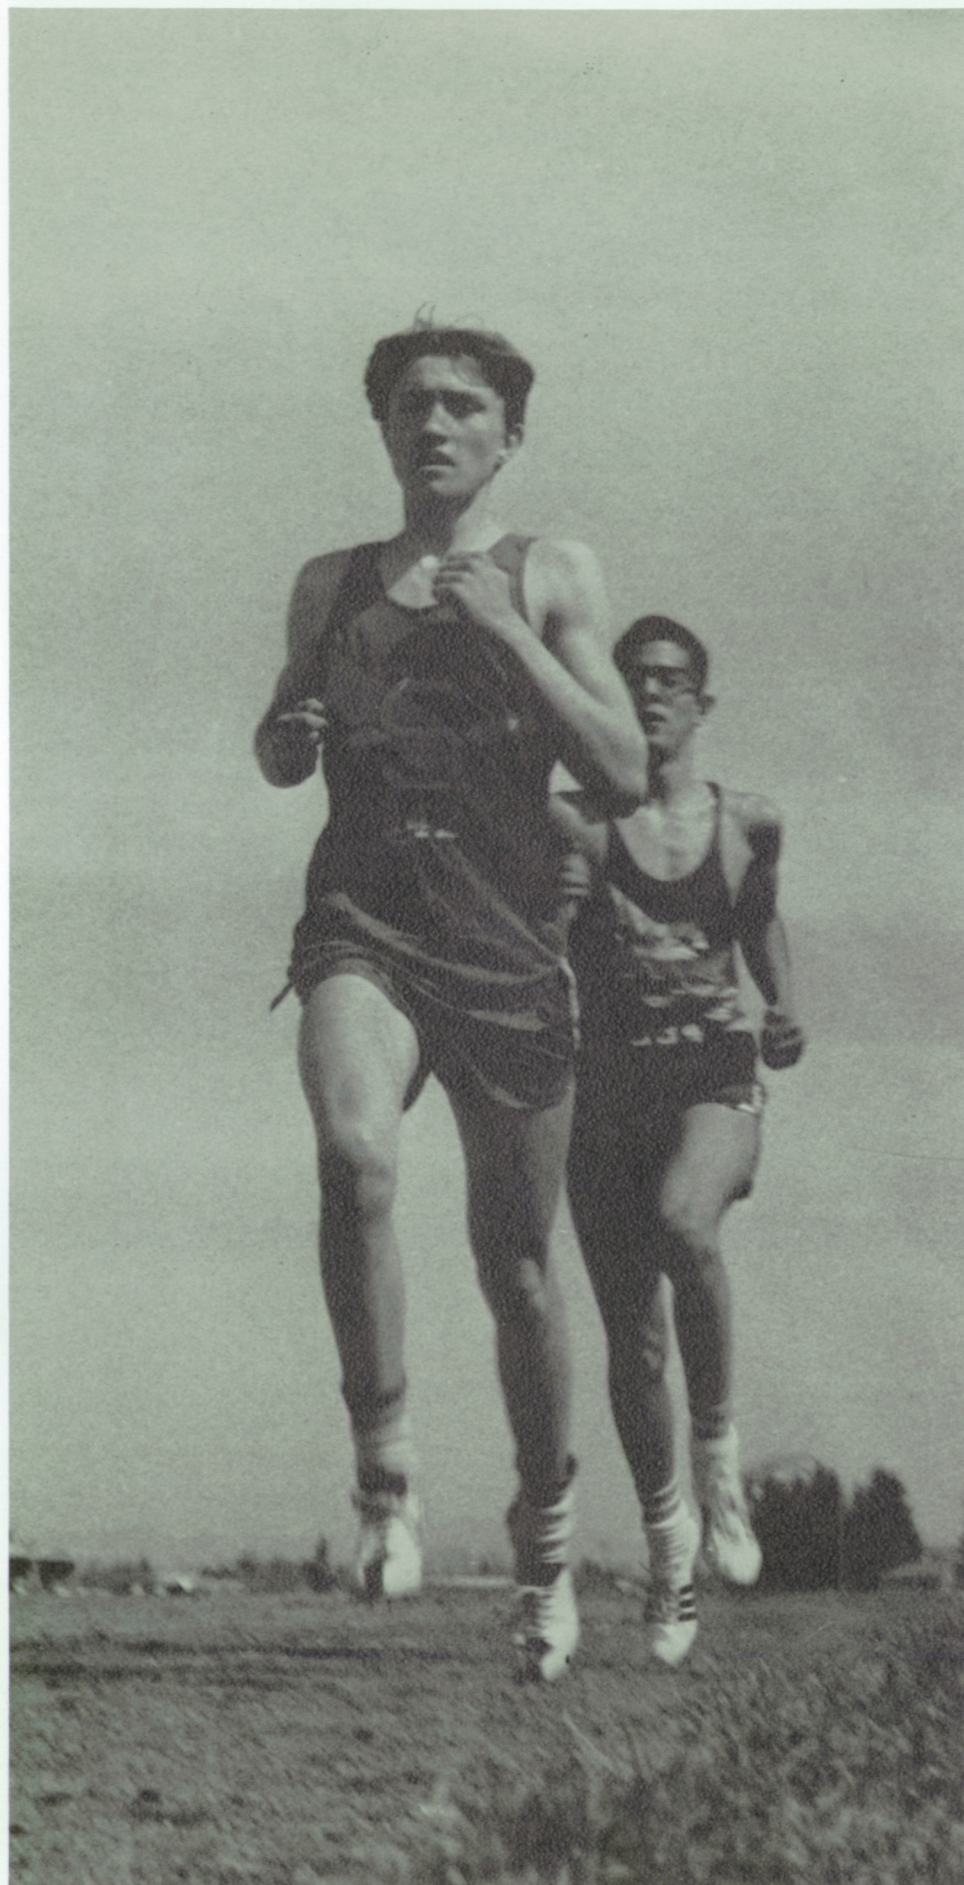

"But," he continued, "because of the exceptional sophomores and juniors Shadle has this year, not all of them could compete on varsity and they now make up the 'B'-squad."

He also said that these runners will provide a foundation for next year's varsity and that they strive for the perfection and quality that will prove invaluable next year.

League Ball

League baseball opened April 15 with a game at LC after the varsity team completed a three-win and two-loss record in practice games. They also played in the Inland Empire Baseball Tournament, April 9 through April 11.

On March 10 the team began turning out in the gym because of the snow still on the ground. "We used batting tees, whiffle and tennis balls, trying to perfect a level swing. It proved very successful," stated Coach Joe Heslin.

After fifteen league games, the varsity team ended their season with an Alumni game on May 23.

Six seniors, twelve juniors, and one sophomore comprised the nineteen man team. "We had potentially better ballplayers than last year with good spirit," commented Coach Heslin.

Improvements on Shadle's main baseball diamond this year consisted of planning grass in the infield, and building dugouts for the team's interschool games.

Snow Slows 'B'-Team for Two Weeks

'B'-squad baseball started an energetic season on March 3rd, but snow and cold weather kept the team in the gym for the first two weeks of practice.

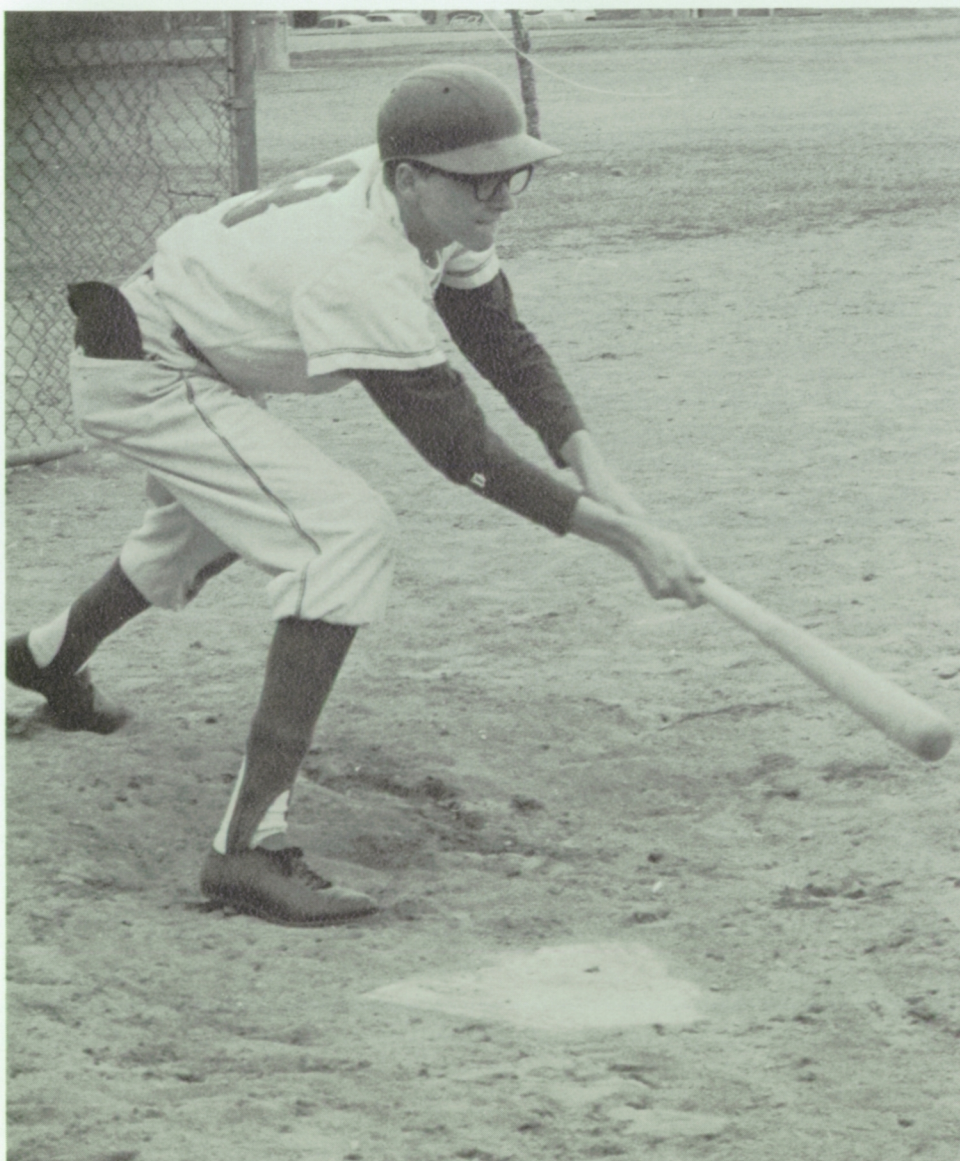

"We had some real fine ballplayers with ability and excellent attitude and spirit. They willingly worked very hard all season," commented Coach Jim Brown.

Season games started with a practice meet with Riverside High School April 4th. 'B'-squaders played fifteen league games, three with each school. League games began April 15.

Top Honors In All-City League Action

Both the boys' and girls' golf teams placed first in fall all-city league action this year.

The boys' team, coached by Mr. Ray Mohnney, locked with Ferris in a competitive standstill during the fall season play.

Instruction offered by prominent Spokane women golfers added to the experience of the girls' team. Miss Karen Aznoe, coach, explains, "These girls deserved to take top position. They are outstanding kids."

ROW 3: Tim James, Robert Bower, Felix Boyle, Steven Bloom,

City League

Leading into their second year of league championship, the boys' varsity tennis team again took top honors. Coach Marvin Anderson boasts, "These boys are fierce competitors with a great pride in Shadle."

Coach Anderson explains that he has had the eight senior lettermen making up most of the varsity team since their sophomore year. "This experience has a lot to do with their great team strength," stated Coach Anderson.

Bob Hodge, Keith Watson, Gary Urquhart and Wally Tobey hold top positions as the "four horsemen" of the team. Hodge, the team captain, bolts the ball while Watson centers on speed to throw his opponent.

The girls' varsity team consists of four seniors, two juniors, and three sophomores. Mrs. Pat Woodard, girls' coach, explains, "This team is strong and with hard work, the team spirit they have and drive, they should come out on top this year."

FACULTY

District 81 Asks For New Curriculum

Board members of District 81 applied for approval of a new curriculum that could take effect next year if supported by the State Department of Public Instruction. This new curriculum aims at reducing the dropout rate in the high schools by adding or updating certain courses to make them more relevant to our everyday living.

Dr. Ayars stated that a new creditation program will start this coming fall, and will assure better counseling and instruction for the increasing number of students entering the high schools next year. The addition of more counselors and teachers to the faculty would also include the expansion of the library staff.

Mr. Walter Anker, a former Head of the English Department, now holds an office as the Coordinator of Curriculum for Secondary Schools. Mr. Anker works extensively with the faculty to develop and improve the teaching program.

station, KSPS, broadcasted several of these sessions for the first time this year. After discussions on the various topics the Board members make a decision on an issue by voting.

entrance, ponders the question of should I go on to school or not? Mr. Cobb then points out the major goals and rewards of a college degree needed to obtain a good job in this world today.

BELOW: Another "please report" student arrives at the desk of Mrs. Irma Painter, as 'Mature'

An over-all increase of academic achievement in 1969 "reflected greater maturity on the part of the students," according to Mr. Keith Rostvold, vice principal.

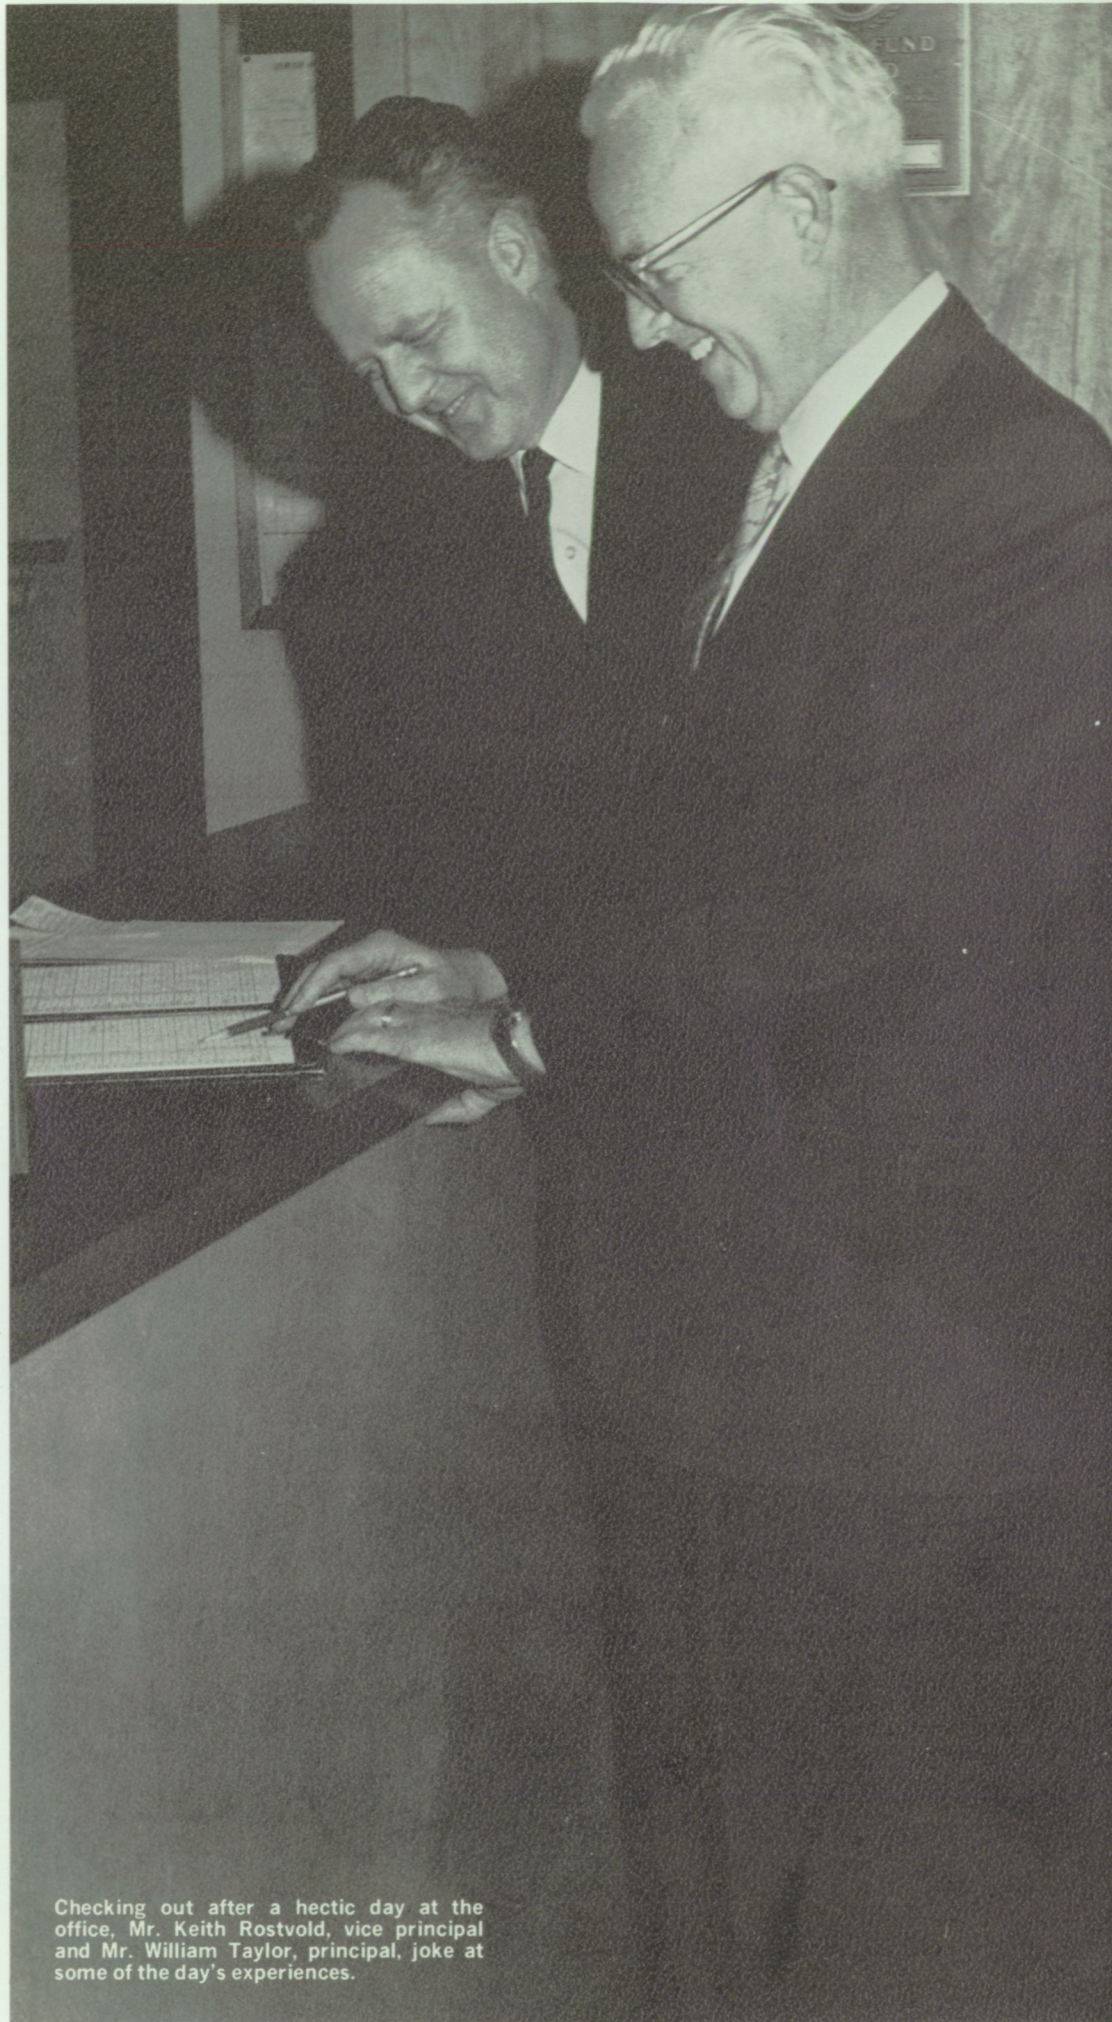

Resulting in less student-teacher conflict and fewer major difficulties, the improved student body attitude enabled the administration to spend more time helping individual students.

Mr. Donald Cobb, Dean of Boys, and Miss Helen Cleveland, Dean of Girls, also doubled as College Counselor and Girls' League advisor respectively. Mrs. Irma Painter served as attendance officer and assistant ASB advisor.

Mr. Wayne Connor registrar, handled report cards and data processing information. Business manager Mr. Robert Stockman tabulated the school's financial status.

Mrs. Marcia Suko, a new addition to the counseling staff, worked with incoming sophomores. Mr. Robert Kuehl gave advice to juniors and graduating seniors received aid from Mrs. Olga Iverson.

Custodians, Cooks Help Shadle's Pride

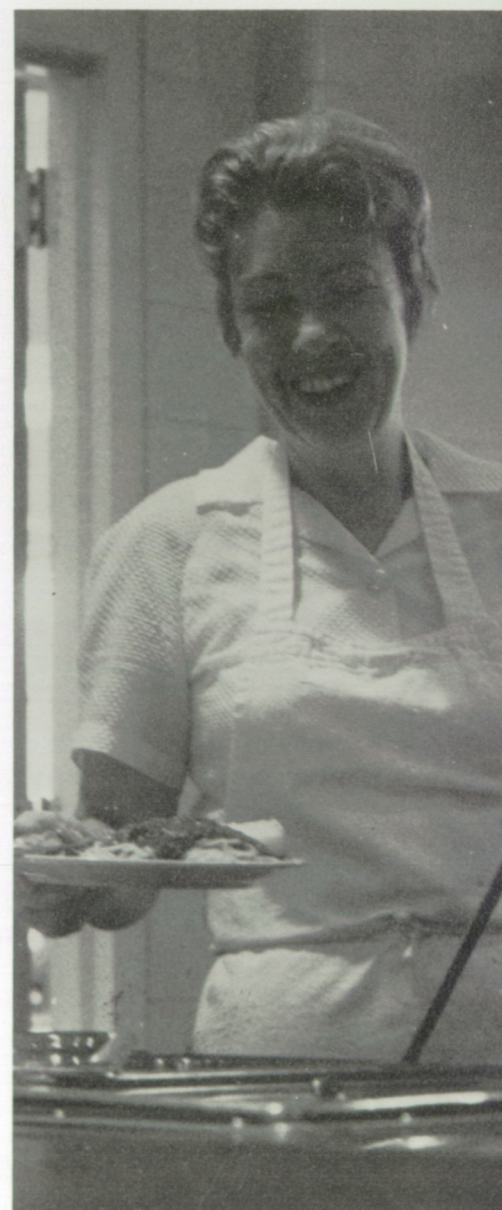

Using 104 man-hours a day for just cleaning, Mr. Hugh Leppell, head custodian, boasts that "Shadle is the cleanest school in town and we couldn't do it without the students' cooperation."

Daily, serving from 900 to 1,000 lunches, Shadle cooks use approximately 50 lbs. of bread, 68 lbs. of hamburger, and 80-120 lbs. of meat for the regular hot lunch line.

Chocolate and vanilla milk shakes were provided, much to the students' delight.

LEFT: After collecting the paper sacks, napkins, milk cartons, and other rubbish from the four lunches, Jim Gibson wheels the stacked garbage cans to the incinerator.

ABOVE: Shadle's cooks are Bonnie Estes, Phyllis Swanby, Louise Vinson, Lucille Lantz, Donna Dotson, Gudrun Jelsing, Claryce Grimm, Marie Brown, Clara Ninemire, Martha Meyer, Thelma Darling, Beatrice Masters, Alice Nelson, and Thelma Hedlin. With the addition of serving trays

instead of dishes, the cooks' job was made easier. Also added to the Shadle cafeteria was a milk shake machine. The students enjoyed this new innovation and the shakes could be bought in the snack line or the regular lunch line for only fifteen cents.

LEFT: Mrs. Donna Dotson holds a plateful of spaghetti while Mrs. Clara Ninemire dips the spoon for some more spaghetti sauce. The cooks serve throughout all four lunches.

Four girls work each lunch period collecting money for hot lunch and other foods offered by the school lunch program. The girls work for one semester, receiving a credit but no grade.

Highlanders

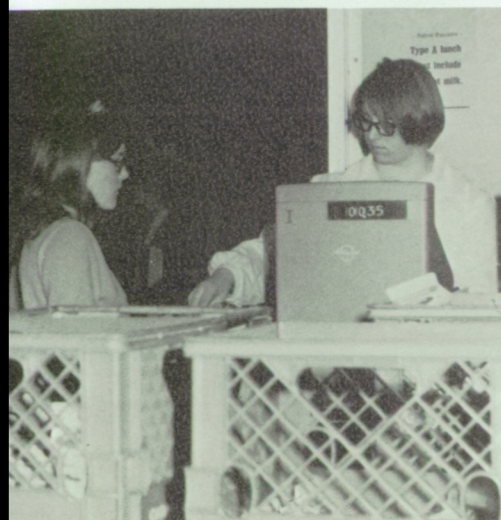

75 students spend hours of their time working at various jobs assisting with clerical and office work throughout the school as part of a clerical practice course.

Mr. Robert Stockman screens the applications basing his choices on GPA, attendance, and also general appearance. He then gives the students a chance to choose, in order from first to fifth choice, the position desired.

He places them accordingly at positions in the offices, library, bookroom or PE department.

'69 Seniors

Activities such as the annual Senior Con, a senior sponsored dance, and according to Mr. Mohny, class advisor, "a whole pile" of various money-raising campaigns completed a busy fall semester for the Class.

One of the most successful of all previous senior class programs, the Senior Con raised over $900.

Seniors provided the concession stand at school basketball games and sold wrapping bows at Christmas time. This money helped to finance the Prom.

"Shoot 'Em Up" themed the class of '69 sponsored dance held late in October for the entire school.

Final Touch

Commencement exercises and the annual Senior Prom traditionally highlighted the Senior Class's spring activities. Over 700 seniors "plodded" through their final months of high school led by the five officers and the 22 members of the Spring Council.

Fort George Wright Commons again set the scene for the enchantment of Shadle's ninth annual Senior Prom. Long Formals, tuxedos and soft music added to the fantasy of the senior's last and most memorable high school dance.

Seniors also enjoyed Sports Clothes Day, Dress-Up Day and many other traditional events during their last days at Shadle. On Senior Rule Day, the upperclassmen exercised the leadership abilities that they have acquired at Shadle.

Traditionally held on the morning of commencement practices, the Senior Breakfast topped off a week of busy and memorable experiences for the graduating seniors.

Thoughts of caps and gowns, diplomas and scholarships brought sighs of relief mingled with tears of resignation that high school years must finally close.

In Memoriam

We get to the grave of a friend saying,
"A man is dead," but angels throng about him saying, "A man is born."

—Henry Ward Beecher

An accomplished athlete, Rene earned his letter in track when he was a sophomore. He was also a member of the 'B'-squad football and wrestling teams. Rene came to Shadle in the fall of 1967 from Salk Junior High School.

Death was attributed to nephritis, a rare disease of the kidneys.

Sophomores

Boasting an enrollment of 777, sophomores represent one of the largest and quietest classes in Shadle history, according to class counselors and the office staff.

Getting acquainted with the school and its traditions posed many problems for the new students. An hour-long orientation con held during the first week of school offered simple solutions to some of these questions.

New girls gained insight into Shadle's social activities through their "Big Sisters," a Girls' League project set up primarily to aid them in knowing what is expected of them.

Traditionally, sophomores remain virtually inactive for the first semester completing an adjustment period before formally setting up a class of its own. Writing and ratifying a class constitution and electing officers culminated the spring semester as the class anticipated class projects and junior status.

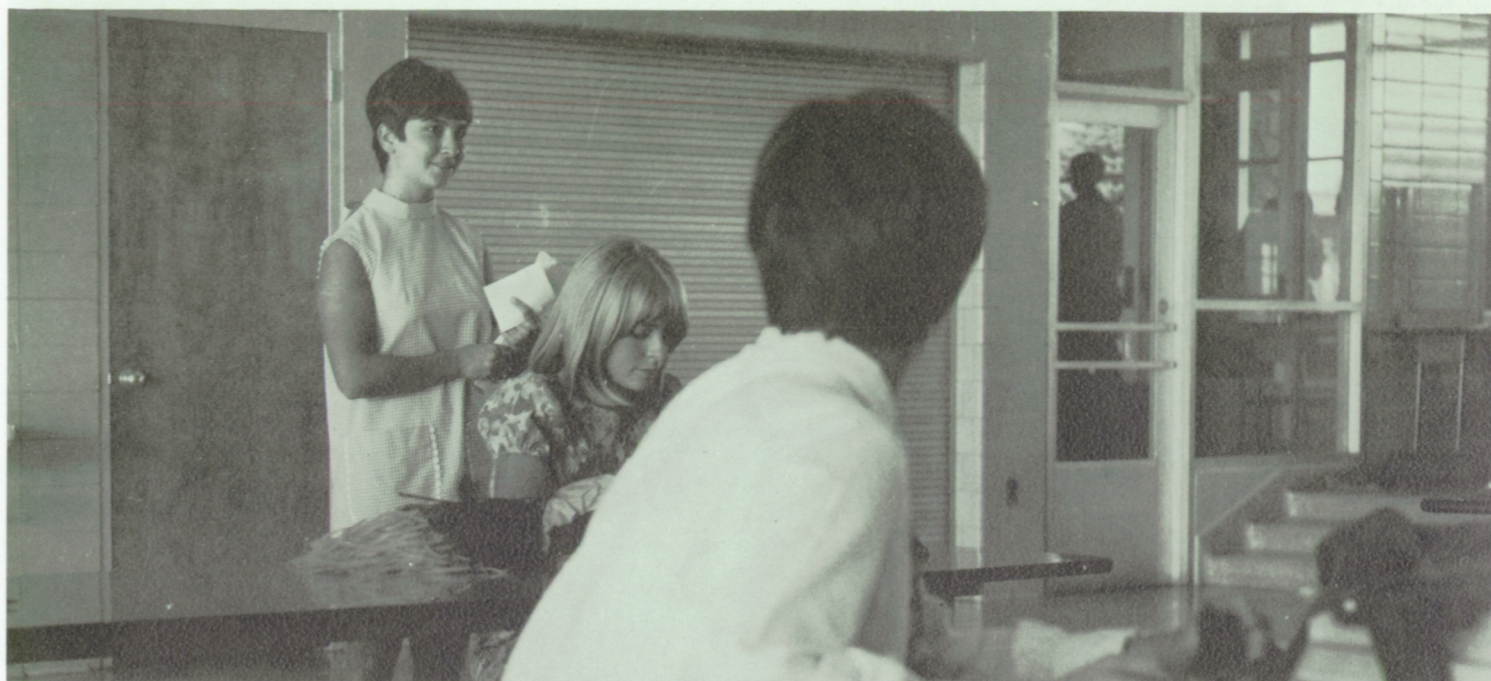

ABOVE: Mr. Ray Mohney offers aid to students in his sophomore biology class. Biology classes delved into the science and reproduction of plants and animals.

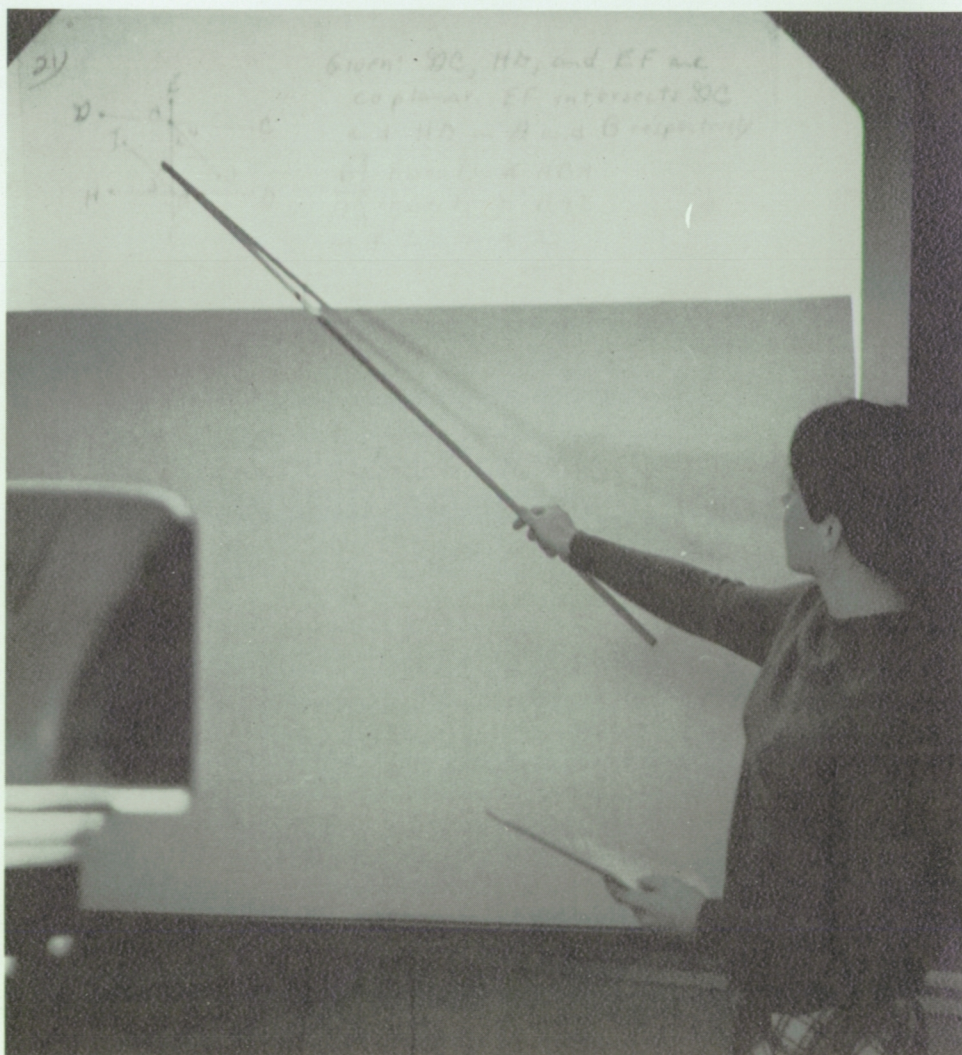

BELOW: Sophomore girls attentively watch a video-taped program. The video-tape recorder, introduced last year, is gaining more popularity among students and teachers as a form of visual instruction.

Soph English Introduces New Approach

Roger Nottage concentrates on a poetry selection in Mrs. Sarah Anderson's English class. Sophomores gain a broader and different understanding about poetry from their new literature books.

To escape much of the noise and chaos in the main lunchroom, many seniors enjoy the comfort of eating in the Senior Cove.

Always in the hearts of Homeroom 404, Mrs. Georgialee Smithpeters receives special recognition from her "homeroom children" for Mother's Day.

Students Receive Guidance, Information From Concerned Homeroom Teachers

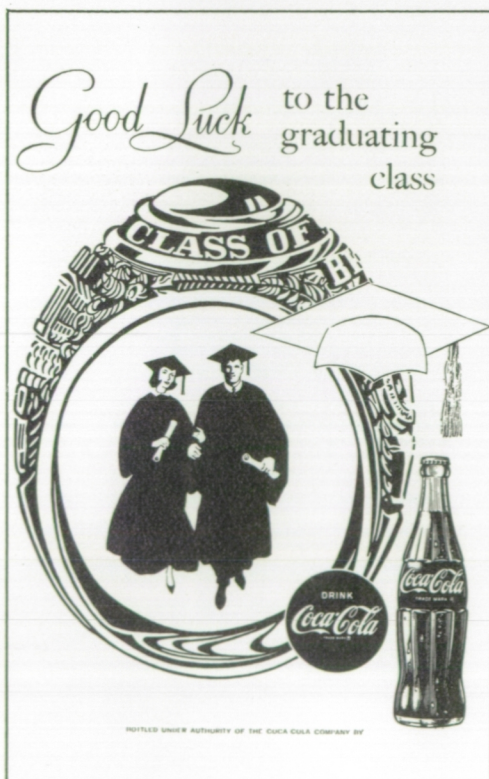

ABOVE: In addition to taking attendance and reading the bulletin, Mrs. Peggy Gilbert also finds time to counsel her students in selecting and filling out college applications for next year.

RIGHT: Reading the daily bulletin, Mrs. Smithpeters informs her senior homeroom students of the day's activities. She often takes special interest in informing them of many community projects.

WHAT NOW, YOUNG FRIEND?

The diploma is in hand, the mission accomplished, the job well done.

What now?

It is only the beginning and you realize it. There are more challenges ahead, more victories to celebrate and more friendships to know.

*As you count friends, think of the thousand men and women of WWP Company.
They extend to you sincere congratulations and best wishes.*

We Have A System

that will cut your study time in half

Mr. David Thompson, Executive Director.

Mr. Paul Wagar,
Director of Education & Counseling.

- Our system is a course that will teach you to read 3 to 10 times faster than you do now
- It's not an easy system and it's not a shortcut
- It's not a way of learning by osmosis

THE COURSE IS CALLED EVELYN WOOD READING DYNAMICS

Here is what Reading Dynamics graduates say about the course:

"Rates are improving, but more important to me is that I comprehend better also."

F. Patrick Nelson,
U. of W. Student.

"Your approach to the study technique should become a required subject early in school. It's tremendous!"

Richard Dance,
High School Student.

"I can see how your mind can actually work faster than we've allowed before — it's very exciting!"

Katy Wade, High School Student

"My reading sure amazes my friends at school. I've had three open book tests so far and I've had three "A+". Only missed one question."

Ed McConkey,
High School Student

"My rates definitely improved. Class more interesting than anticipated."

John W. Murphy, WSU Student.

"Honestly, I don't believe how my reading speed has increased in such a short time!"

Jo Ann Greico,
High School Student.

Summer classes are now forming

A black and white photograph showing the silhouettes of two graduates wearing caps and gowns. They are standing in a modern building with large glass windows. The interior of the building is visible through the glass, showing a bright, open space with a railing and some furniture. The graduates are in the foreground, and the building's interior is in the background.
